

Spoiled 95

Chapter 95 Don't Embarrass Us!

"Charlotte, you're not allowed to choose any of these dresses, wear this one!"

Mia Stewart took a green long gown from the hanger, threw it at Charlotte, and commanded, "Clean yourself up nicely, don't embarrass us!"

This green dress was an expensive designer piece, air-shipped and exorbitantly priced, Mia Stewart couldn't bear to part with it.

Unfortunately, when Emily tried it on, it didn't look good on her, in fact, it looked rather vulgar, so they didn't plan on using this dress at all.

Although Mia was reluctant, she deliberately made Charlotte wear it to make her look vulgar and unsophisticated so as to prevent Charlotte from outshining Emily.

"You change here, come find me when you're done." Mia dropped these words and rushed off hastily towards the venue.

Charlotte locked the door to the dressing room, then undressed and put on the green dress.

She stood in front of the mirror and gave a cold laugh, aware of Mia Stewart's intentions.

This dress had a large orange flower at the waist. Unless worn by a tall, slim, and cool supermodel, anyone else wearing it would look extraordinarily vulgar.

Having her wear this dress was nothing more than an attempt to prevent her from stealing the limelight.

Stealing the limelight?

At this time, how could she be thinking about stealing the limelight.

Aunt Watson is gone, her heart was filled only with endless pain and hatred.

She couldn't let Aunt Watson die in vain!

...

"Knock, knock, knock!"

The moment Charlotte finished her makeup, there was a knock on the door.

"Who is it?" She asked, turning around.

"It's me, Ryan Richard." The man answered.

A glimmer of hatred flashed across Charlotte's eyes as she rose from her chair, walked over to the door, and opened it.

The reproachful words that Ryan was about to utter were swallowed halfway down.

He had never seen Charlotte look so charming before!

In his memory, Charlotte never wore makeup, she always had a clean face.

Her regular skincare product was the cheap snowflake cream. Back when he had bought her a couple of hundred yuan worth of lotion and water as her birthday gift, Charlotte had thought it was too wasteful and had insisted that he return it.

At that time, he thought to himself, how could this woman be so ungrateful!

She wouldn't even accept good things when they were given to her!

Charlotte was conservative and out of date, it made him increasingly bored with her, so he began to use her to make perfume and started affairs outside. In the end, he officially confirmed his relationship with Emily.

Although the Allen family was average, they were a listed company after all. Charlotte had been discarded by the Allen family, Emily was Ethan Allen's darling, the legitimate Miss of the Allen family.

After careful weighing, he had finally chosen Emily.

However, now, the Charlotte in front of him seemed to have transformed into a completely different person.

She was wearing light makeup and had charming eyes. Her previously moist, messy hair had been styled into loose waves with a side parting, innocent yet with a hint of provocative charm.

The green dress, though vulgar in color, seemed like a celestial being descending to earth when worn by Charlotte!

Ryan was nearly stupefied.

"What is it?" Charlotte looked at him expressionlessly, making him shudder at her hollow gaze.

Ryan recovered his senses, cleared his throat, his face turned much more serious, and said, "You sold the perfume proposal to Mia for a million, so I can continue with the perfume launch plan, right?"

"You came to confirm this?" asked Charlotte, her face still indifferent.

"And... the video, how much do you want for it?" Ryan immediately followed up.

After all, Charlotte still had the video of him and Jessica Taylor!