

Lucky Star of Space on Farmlands

Chapter 10 Golden Pearl Space

"Look, Nai has picked out all the best meat for you, including chicken legs.

Half a pheasant is actually not much, especially the spring pheasants, which have been hungry all winter. How can there be much meat? It was not easy for her to pick out these.

As for the chicken offal and so on, let the old man eat it, and let the children drink some soup to replenish themselves.

"I don't know. Maybe I was at Chen's house that day and saw cooked chickens there. Later, they said they wanted to bury me. I... I must be scared."

Lin Caisang had a look of fear on his face and looked at the bowl of chicken hesitantly.

"Grandma, take it out and give it to eldest brother, He'er and Qing'er, and Grandpa, you and your third uncle and aunt, share it among you.

"That's it."

Mrs. Lin Lu has no doubt about him. As long as her granddaughter says it, she will absolutely believe it and obey it.

"Then let your third uncle go catch some fish from the river and make some soup for you. I will take out the chicken soup."

Lin Caisang: "..."

Fish soup!

Can she tell me that there was not only chicken but also fish on the table that day?

The answer is of course no, otherwise, her grandma might think of something else to feed her, and this fat...

"Well, grandma, you are so kind to Sangsang.

"Of course, if grandma can't be kind to Sangsang, who else can she be kind to?"

Mrs. Lin Lu smiled proudly, of course she had to pamper her precious granddaughter, otherwise she would be sorry for herself.

"Okay, the chicken grandma has been brought out. You can rest after eating the pancakes." With that, she went out.

After a while, Lin Caisang, who was standing at the door of the room, watched Mrs. Lin Lu and her third aunt pick up the bamboo basket and leave with the sickle to cut pig grass.

She gritted her teeth and looked at the two people's retreating figures, unable to regain her consciousness for a long time. It was early spring, not long after the New Year, and everything was still waiting for recovery. There was so much pigweed outside for them to cut.

Especially since Uncle Jin's family was collecting pigweed for two pennies per basket, there must be many people doing this money-making job. How much pigweed can Grandma and Third Aunt cut?

"It seems that making money is necessary!"

But before making money, there is one thing that must be done!

After closing the door, Lin Caisang's body flashed and she came to a strange place. It was an heirloom she brought from her previous life - a golden bead.

In the previous life, the Lin family had been practicing medicine for generations, and it had been passed down to her for more than two hundred generations. The golden bead that had been hanging around her neck was an heirloom of the Lin family and a symbol of the identity of the family head.

She had only heard that this golden bead was a treasure before, but she didn't know what it was. She even thought it was a joke played by her ancestors.

Because this golden bead really looks like a rusty iron bead.

It was only after traveling to this place that she sensed the power of this golden bead. It can also be said that it was this golden bead that brought her to this place and brought her the beginning of a second life.

And it is actually a space with an open land!

She didn't know whether she should be grateful to it or scold it outright!

After all, with this golden bead space, she can do many things, grow crops and sell them, which is a lot of income. However, it is also the same thing that brought her to this unfamiliar place, which is called A time when father is not here and mother-in-law has run away.

Fortunately, her grandparents came to care for her, so she felt that such a life was not too boring.
