Chapter 104 An empty tomb

And this person actually came to dig the grave!

"Let's dig the grave open. I want to see what secrets are hidden inside. Lin Caisang was no longer afraid and said to Wei.

Her intuition told her that there might be some unspeakable secrets hidden in the grave of Gong Sangong. Perhaps even Mr. Gong, the biological father of Gong Sangong, didn't know this secret.

"Move aside."

Ya Molian pulled her away and wanted to help, but Lin Caisang grabbed her arm directly.

"Don't go. Let Wei and the others do it." She lowered her voice beside him and said.

They are just ordinary people. It's not their job to dig graves. If Mr. Gong finds out and bites them back, they won't be able to clear themselves even if they jump into the Yellow River.

And Wei and his men are from the county government. It's best for them to come forward.

Mr. Gong just wants to say something but can't find a place to say it.

"Well. "

Ya Molian nodded, raised his other hand and patted the back of her hand.

...

After half an hour, the grave that had just been dug was dug again, but several constables looked at the empty grave in astonishment. When they looked up at their companions, their eyes were confused.

"This... Weitou, this is an empty grave!" A constable couldn't help but exclaimed in surprise.

"What?"

Lin Caisang heard his words, pulled Ya Molian forward, and looked at the empty grave, her face was also black.

"How could it be an empty grave? Could it be that Mr. Gong San is not dead?" She turned her head and glanced at Ya Molian.

Before he could say anything, he had already shaken his head to deny his guess. So many people watched a person die, how could he still be alive? Besides, this strange disease does kill people, and many people have died in Hongling Town.

"It should have been moved away before us." Ya Molian said.

"Hmm? "

Lin Caisang's heart moved, and she turned to look at Wei and the others.

"Wei, you come up first, let me go down and take a look." She said.

"Okay." Wei and the others responded and jumped out of the pit.

Ya Molian took Lin Caisang down the pit, almost immediately, without squatting down to check anything, and they could tell from the smell that there was a body buried here.

"There is also a stench of corpses, it should have been moved not long ago, you wait, I will scrape some soil here back."

"I'll do it."

Ya Molian took the pieces of white cloth from her hand, squatted down and got three bags of soil from different places, and then took her back to the ground.

"It seems that it's time to find someone to have a good chat." He said.

"Find someone? Whom?" Wei asked them.

"Whoever's son this is, find him. "Lin Caisang looked at him and said.

"This..."

Captain Wei twitched his lips slightly, thinking that it would be useless to ask Mr. Gong about this matter.

"Miss Liu, this young master, is it useful to ask Mr. Gong about this matter? Will he know about this? Digging up the dead body in his own ancestral grave, this should not be something that Mr. Gong would do. "

Who doesn't hope for peace in the He family? The ancestral grave must be a blessed land that can bless the living with all peace. Mr. Gong can't be unaware of this.

"Who said that Mr. Gong knew that he knew about the digging?" Lin Caisang smiled faintly.

"Captain Wei, it doesn't matter whether he knows that the body was dug up or not. The key is, whose body this is. You know, if this body that died of a strange disease is used by someone, it is very likely to cause a greater disaster in Qianlin County, or even a larger place. "
