Chapter 12 Divorce Lin Caisang!

"Shh!"

Lin Changhong put his muddy hand to his mouth, making a silent gesture, and glanced in the direction of the figure with his big eyes, indicating to Lin Baiyi to look at it.

Seeing how mysterious he was, Lin Baiyi looked over there suspiciously. This look was incredible.

The man and woman who came over were none other than Sang Sang's future husband Zhou Liang and his second brother's eldest daughter Liu Yushui. Look at the two of them chatting with each other, and their faces were even more excited. They seemed to have a very close relationship. .

"this....."

He was startled and glanced at his nephew again.

He said to himself: It turns out that this kid brought him here to catch this shameless couple!

In the bamboo forest, the scene that Zhou Liang and Liu Yushui were doing happened to be caught by Lin Changhong. At the same time, Master Zhou also listened to Liu Rumei's slander, and sincerely felt that Lin Caisang was a woman who neglected her husband.

His grandson will be nominated for a gold medal in the future, so how could he make any mistakes?

Without thinking, Master Zhou immediately wrote the divorce papers and rushed to Yacun with several family members.

Of course, Zhou Liang originally followed, but because he saw Liu Yushui when he arrived near Ya Village, he couldn't resist the temptation, secretly separated from the crowd, and ran into the bamboo forest with Liu Yushui.

Therefore, Zhou Liang went to the bamboo forest, while Master Zhou and his party came to Lin Caisang's house.

"Grandpa Zhou, Uncle Zhou, Aunt Zhou, Caiqing has gone to find my grandma. Please sit down for a while while Sangsang goes to boil water for you to make tea." Lin Caisang welcomed the few people into the main room. , watched them sit down, and then retreated.

"laugh."

Mrs. Zhou couldn't help but sneered when she saw Lin Caisang leaving so obediently.

She had never set her sights on this future daughter-in-law. If it weren't for her destiny of being a wealthy star, how could her precious son be worthy of such a fat pig?

Today I was able to let go of the bad breath in my heart.

As long as the marriage is canceled, she can hold her head high in front of others and no longer have to be laughed at for having a daughter-in-law who is fatter than a pig.

"This little bitch still dares to pretend to be good in front of us. It's useless to pretend any more. She won't get any good results today!"

"shut up!"

Master Zhou heard his daughter-in-law's words and glared at her.

"It's our fault that you came here to cancel the engagement today. If you cause any trouble again, I will have your stepmother divorce you!"

"I....."

Mrs. Zhou opened her mouth, shrinking her neck and not daring to say anything more.

"Dad, why are you helping outsiders deal with your daughter-in-law?"

When Zhou Jitang saw his wife being scolded for no reason, he naturally said what he said.

"Zhe Mei is right. Lin Caisang has become a concubine. How can she be worthy of our Liang'er? Today we treat each other with courtesy. It is still good to write a letter of divorce. If it were changed Others should have divorced Lin Caisang as soon as possible!"

It's not like they didn't know what happened yesterday.

Even if Lin Caisang was deceived into selling by Liu Rumei, the vicious second aunt, she finally entered the wedding hall. Moreover, the sick Yangzi of the Chen family has been sick for many years. What a coincidence. That stall was doomed.

Who would believe it if it wasn't Lin Caisangke's?

"Dad, you can't be polite to them today, otherwise, how will Liang'er be able to hold his head high in front of his classmates in the future?"

...

On the other side, Lin Caisang did not go to the kitchen to boil some water to make tea. Instead, he took the pen, ink and paper left by Lin Changhong and came to Grandpa Lin Laogan's room.
