Chapter 138: Catch the duck and put it on the shelves

She knew that she would be punished if she failed the mission, but she really didn't know what the punishment was. It was not written in the Golden Pearl Order.

Could it be that failing the mission would allow her to see those jade books that she couldn't see at her current level?

But doctors are kind-hearted, who would want to fail in their mission? Failure can mean the death of one person, not even one person, but a group of people. She is not that unscrupulous. In order to learn more skills for herself, she takes Other people's lives don't matter.

"What kind of punishment will there be for failing the mission?"

Although I thought in my heart that I would not let the mission fail, who knows if I might be stumped by some disease and actually fail the mission in the end?

'Golden Pearl Polar Region – Frozen.

"Ice?!"

Thinking that she was sealed by ice, she gasped and shivered.

"How can you learn poisoning skills when it's frozen?"

'Jinzhu Polar Region - Freeze - The number of days of freeze is determined according to the task level. You can choose the jade book you need to read and study for more than eight hours a day until it is unsealed.' A long string of words appeared on the jade mirror again.

Lin Caisang: "..."

Is this because Jin Zhu thinks that her contract owner is too weak, so he asks her to learn like a duck?

Although she could definitely learn a lot, why did she feel... so terrible? She prayed that she would never fail the mission, and she didn't want to tremble while reading a book. That was definitely not just the word 'suffering' that could be described.

"I'd better take my time."

Sure enough, haste makes waste, this saying is so true.

...

Early the next morning, Lin Caisang placed a stack of paper in front of Lin Changhong.

"These have to be made," she said calmly.

Lin Changhong was still eating. When he was about to finish his meal, he hurried up the mountain to do something. When he saw a stack of papers beside him, he put down the chopsticks in his hands and picked up the papers. He read them slowly at first, and then read them faster and faster.

"Sister, you are really a genius. How did you come up with these things?"

After reading it, Lin Changhong stared at his girl with bright eyes, as if staring at a bright treasure.

"Of course I thought of it with my head." Lin Caisang shrugged.

The mechanism technique in Jinzhu was further behind than the poison technique, so naturally she could only see some superficial things, but even these superficial things were enough for her to be able to draw these things.

Small dams are made of iron; there are also windmills, waterwheels, etc., as well as drying rooms, warehouses, etc. You can think of them just thinking about it.

"Brother, can you understand what these are?"

"Yes, of course I can." Lin Changhong nodded repeatedly.

"With these things, our fields will not be afraid of drought in the future. No wonder you have to dig such a big pond. It turns out it can really be used for a lot of purposes."

Lin Caisang: "..."

As expected, it was no different from what she thought. Lin Changhong was really suitable for learning machine arts.

"Brother, when the barren hills are reclaimed, why don't you go to school?" she suggested.

She wanted to show the jade book to her eldest brother directly, but her eldest brother probably couldn't understand the words on it. She still had to learn all the characters first. She couldn't count on Yudu. After all, the jade mirror couldn't speak, it was just a font. Just for display.

"okay."

Lin Changhong didn't think about anything else. Naturally, his sister would do whatever she said.

...

In the following time, Lin Changhong was busy in Menghuang Mountain, while Lin Caimulberry reclaimed all the land at home and bought a lot of seeds.
