Chapter 142 Master, please bow to me as a disciple

Taking a deep breath, he struggled to sit up.

Slowly moving his legs out of the bed, he knelt down in front of Lin Caisang with a plop.

Lin Caisang: "..."

What was this for? Why did she kneel down as she spoke? She didn't say anything, she just said what she thought in her heart.

"Master, please bow to me, my disciple."

She heard Zhong You's voice in her ears, and her eyes widened in fright.

Lin Caisang: "...!!"

She asked him to find a good teacher, but she didn't say that she wanted to take on a disciple. Big brother, in fact, in terms of age, I am really younger than you!

"What are you doing? I'm not your master. 'G' '9' 's' 'h' 'u' 'x' ' ' 'c' 'o' 'm'"

Quickly jumping back, she refused to accept such a big disciple.

"Master, didn't you tell me to find a good teacher? I think Master is my good teacher." Zhong You couldn't be more serious.

Not only did she have excellent medical skills, but she could also teach him the principles of life. It was she who helped him when he was on the verge of death and prevented him from becoming the ruthless murderer of his ancestors.

He was determined to become this master.

"I..." Not your master!

Lin Caisang opened his mouth, but could not continue.

"Master, could it be that what you told me before was all false, and that in fact I have no talent for studying medicine at all?"

"this....."

Lin Caisang really didn't know how to answer.

Can she say that she is actually a dabbler? Before, I was still asking Yu Jing how he could learn more poison techniques, but he completely forgot about the words "Haste makes waste".

Let her take on an apprentice now?

"Young Master You, you can actually find a better master. There are actually many in Qianlin County..."

"Master, you are the best mentor in my heart. Only by studying medicine with you can I succeed in my studies and learn the principles of life. You don't want to watch me live my whole life in confusion, Master."

Zhong You interrupted her, not giving her a chance to reject him, and tried his best to win over Lin Caisang as his master.

"Master, you are only one person now. It is inevitable that you will lack a medicine boy to help you. I am just right. Although I have not studied medicine for a long time and I am self-taught, I will try my best to do my best and follow the instructions carefully. You study medicine."

"Well."

Although Zhong You said a lot of things, I have to say that one thing really touched Lin Caisang's heart.

She really needs a medicine boy by her side. When she goes on a mission in the future, whether it is taking care of medicine for her at home or being taken out by her, she must have such a person.

Otherwise, she would have to do everything herself wherever she went, which would be a bit too busy.

but--

To Grandpa and Grandma, she is just a little girl who only knows some pharmacology and goes to the mountains to dig for herbs. How could she even be accepted as an apprentice, and she is also a male apprentice? This is because she wants to Her reputation is ruined.

She felt that this would definitely not happen.

"Master, do you dislike my stupid qualifications?"

Seeing Lin Caisang standing for a long time without speaking, Zhong You's slightly warm heart gradually cooled down.

"No, of course not."

Hearing his words, Lin Caisang quickly shook his head.

When Zhong You attacked her grandfather, she had a very bad impression of Zhong You, but she felt from the bottom of her heart that Zhong You was a rare and good doctor, and she only needed to be guided.

"Young Master You, it's not that I dislike you. It's actually a bit difficult in my family."
