Chapter 170 You must do this for me

However, she didn't think Liu Baixiao was here to borrow money. Would the Liu family be short of such a small amount of money? There must be some other purpose, but I don't know what it is.

...

Soon, Lu Qiubo pushed Lin Laogen in the wheelchair, followed by Liu Baixiao, and returned to the Lin family.

Liu Baixiao came back, and Lin Caisang naturally wanted to go home with him. Almost everyone in the Lin family went home to see what Liu Baixiao wanted to do again. Only Liu Baiyi and Lin Yang's Yang Lin did not show up, because they were pulling The bullock cart went out to sell goods.

The family sat down in the main room.

"Just tell me if you have anything to do." Lin Laogong looked at his unfulfilled son and asked with a straight face. (つಠ_ಠ)つ

Liu Baixiao saw that the hall was full of people, even the younger ones were sitting so carelessly on the small benches, ready to listen to him. He was so embarrassed that he couldn't help himself, so he could only lower his voice and speak to Lin Laogan.

"Dad, look... there are so many people here, why don't we let them all go out?" he suggested.

What he wanted to say was so secret that it couldn't be spread. Otherwise, how could it be done?

"Sang Sang, take them all out. Go out, and my second uncle will buy you candies later."

Knowing that he couldn't talk to Lin Laogong, he looked at Lin Caisang who was staring at him with big eyes, and half-coaxed him to speak, hoping that Lin Caisang would be obedient and take the others out.

Lin Caisang turned his head speechlessly, glanced at his eldest brother, raised his hand and pinched his chubby face, and asked with a cute look on his face.

"Brother, do you think I am in need of food and drink?"

Although this month's weight loss has initially taken effect and she has lost a lot of weight, her figure, which is 140 pounds, must be about the same. She is like a person who is hungry for a piece of candy if she is short of food and drink. ?

"Sang Sang, be good, after the second uncle has finished talking, the eldest brother will hunt you a pheasant to eat. No, I will hunt two pheasants for you to eat. One will be roasted and the other will be stewed." Lin Changhong cleared his throat. , glanced at Liu Baixiao and said.

"Well."

Liu Baixiao blushed and could only look at Lin Laogan angrily.

"Dad, look..."

"If you want to say something, just say it. If you don't say it, get out of here. Didn't you see that my house is busy? I'm not as idle as you are wandering around." Lin Laogen didn't say anything, but Lu Qiubo on the side said rudely. One sentence.

"mother....."

Liu Baixiao looked at Lu Qiubo helplessly.

"Who is your mother? My surname is Lu, and my husband's surname is Lin, but I can't give birth to a son named Liu!" Just as he was about to speak, Lu Qiubo shouted back.

"I....."

Liu Baixiao opened his mouth, but he couldn't say anything back. He couldn't drive out the people he saw, so he could only grit his teeth and tell his family's affairs.

"Father, mother, I came back this time because something happened to Qingshui, and it caused a big problem. I just wanted to ask you to do this for me when I come back, and let this matter go to..."

"What, second uncle, what are you talking about? Something happened to Liu Qingshui?"

Lin Caisang stood up in surprise as if he had just heard about this.

"What's going on? When did it happen?" she asked quickly.

"I saved someone on the street not two days ago at noon, but things got into trouble and the person died." Liu Baixiao didn't realize he was there and kept asking Lin Caisang questions.

"oh."

Lin Caisang nodded and sat down again.

"That's what happened. It's none of our business. It's not our fault." As she said that, she shrugged, as if it was none of her business.
