Chapter 180 Just treat it as... just listening to a show

This woman Liu Rumei is simply sick. Why should others take the blame for her son? And that is not a small mistake, but a crime of murder!

"She is simply sick!"

"Now that you know she is sick, why do you care about a sick woman?" Lin Changfeng glanced at Lin Changhong indifferently and asked him.

A lesson learned. He was almost tricked by Liu Yushui last time. He should learn to be smarter and let Liu Rumei make trouble like this. After all, her mouth is on her body, so she can say whatever she likes. , saying that it was none of his business to die of thirst.

"I....."

Lin Changhong was choked by Lin Changfeng's words. Then he thought about it and realized that his cousin was right.

But he still glared at Liu Rumei angrily. The anger in his heart could not be dissipated so easily. For a woman who did not harm his cousin, but felt that the Lin family was nothing, if so many people were not watching, he would have wanted to give him a slap in the face.

"With so many people watching, it's not us who are embarrassed." Seeing that he was still angry, Lin Changfeng persuaded him again.

"Okay, let her scold me, and I'll just...just listen to the show." Lin Changhong flattened his mouth and could only persuade himself.

"you....."

When Liu Rumei heard what they said, she was so angry that she burst into tears. She slapped the dirt and yelled.

"Lin Changfeng, you have read all the books in vain in your life, and you have read them all in the dog's belly, right? Even the brothers who were relegated did not save you. You are an ungrateful thing. You are the only one who can pass the examination. It's weird, you have been a talented scholar for the rest of your life, and God won't let you pass the exam!

Why didn't God strike with thunder and kill your family of ungrateful bastards? Fortunately, I have brought you food and drinks every now and then these years. Without me, you would have died of starvation in no corner. How could you still be happy here?

Now I ask you to do a little favor and do something, but you are still here to push me back and forth. You are not a toy, and God will accept you sooner or later!

Just wait and see! "

Listening to Liu Rumei's endless abuse, everyone in the Lin family's face turned as black as coal. Some women outside who were watching the joke pointed at her.

On normal days, Liu Rumei would never think of herself as a crazy woman, sitting in the mud and cursing the Lin family, regardless of her image. At least she would be arrogant.

But the situation is different now.

When the Zhou family heard about Liu Qingshui, they naturally didn't care whether Liu Qingshui was wronged or not. Master Zhou used force to cancel the marriage.

Mrs. Zhou went even further and told others directly outside that the reason why the Zhou family came to cancel the engagement was because Liu Yushui didn't know whose child she was pregnant with!

She was obviously Zhou Liang's child, but she was said to be pregnant with evildoers. Now her precious woman fainted from crying. Although the child in her belly was saved, the Zhou family did not admit it.

Wouldn't this cost her her life?

"Lin Changfeng, Lin Changhong, you two little beasts, I tell you, my Yu'er is not going to have a good time, and you can't even think about it, I won't let you go!"

She was not living well, so how could she take advantage of the Lin family?

"Lin Changfeng, you want to take the imperial examination, but there is no way. I won't give you a single copper. Let's see how you can go to the provincial capital without money!" She looked at Lin Changfeng proudly, feeling that the bad breath in her heart was finally over. It's a little bit off.
