

Star of Space 202

Chapter 202 What could be weird?

"That is to say, nine times out of ten, someone did it deliberately." Lin Caisang said.

After hearing about such a coincidence, she certainly couldn't believe that it was a real coincidence. There must be some connection between them.

It's just that the connection can't be found for a while. Even if it is reported to the official, the matter can only be settled in the end. Who told them that they have no evidence?

Hearing this, the man in black turned his head to look at his palace master and nodded to Lin Caisang.

"Maybe, maybe."

But does that family have that much ability? If you can make the weather change like this and go against the whole town's sericulture families, that family won't be a monster, right?

This is of course impossible.

"I just took a walk around and found that all the silkworm rooms have straw nets made of straw. When was this thing placed? Is it in every room?"

Lin Caisang asked again.

"Oh, the grass net is a must-have for raising silkworms."

The man in black looked at the grass net he was looking at. It was still new.

"Originally, when the first batch of silkworms turned yellow, as long as the silkworms were thrown into the grass net, they would form pupae. But as soon as the grass net was taken back, the silkworms were frozen to death, so the grass net has been there forever. It was placed in the corner and not moved.

Of course, every silkworm house must use it, and it is naturally found in every room.

"You made it yourself?" Lin Caisang asked.

"no."

The man in black shook his head.

"Bought?" Lin Caisang raised an eyebrow.

"yes."

The man in black nodded.

"There is a family outside the town that specializes in weaving straw nets. Over time, they were gathered together. All the sericulture families in the town got it from them. Although the profit was small, it was still a livelihood. Every sericulture family made a living. Before the silkworms pupate, they will buy a batch."

"Is it possible that all the sericulture farmers in the town bought straw nets at the same time?" Lin Caisang asked.

As a businessman, it's impossible for buyers to all come to buy goods on the same day, right? Otherwise, this would be too coincidental, right?

"Absolutely. Silkworms are raised in batches, and silkworms pupate only for a few days. Naturally, there won't be much difference in time when everyone buys straw nets."

The man in black replied.

"What the girl is saying is that the reason why the silkworm house is so cold has something to do with these straw nets?"

Could it be that their silkworms were frozen to death and had something to do with these grass nets? Probably not? Do a few bales of straw nets have that much effect?

However, he suddenly thought of something, and his expression suddenly turned bad.

"Tsk, Master, I just remembered that the family I just mentioned had a conflict with the people who sold the grass nets, so all the grass nets owned by his family and his family's supplier belong to them. Made it myself!"

If we go by this, it means that the guess of the girl brought by the palace master is correct.

All their silkworms froze to death, all because they bought these straw nets!

Hearing this, Lin Caisang raised his eyebrows and looked at Ya Molian, raised his hand and clapped his palms a few times, "Well, the reason is out."

"What's weird about these grass nets?"

Ya Molian looked at the grass nets with a calm expression.

Although he agreed with Lin Caisang's words and thought that this reason was certain, he couldn't imagine how weird it could be for just a few grass nets to freeze so many silkworms to death?

And it didn't happen overnight, the cold temperature has continued until now.
