

Lucky Star of Space on Farmlands

Chapter 23 Curiosity killed the cat

By the way, is there such a 'mother' who abandons her children and doesn't care about them? She actually abandons her children and doesn't care about them!

Looking around, the place Lin Caisang had been looking for was already a large forest.

"Why does it feel like Neilin here?"

She glanced at the trees in the forest and made a confused sound.

The forest around Ya Village is divided into outer forest and inner forest. The outer forest is where the trees are not densely grown and there are many canaries building nests. It is also where the men in the village collect bird's nests.

The inner forest is dangerous. It is overgrown with weeds, dense trees, and there are many wild animals.

It is said that someone has seen a big snake thicker than a human waist before. Although she thinks this is impossible, even if there is a snake, it is not that big, but big snakes do exist.

However, in this weather, no matter how big the snake is, it should be hibernating, right?

After resting for a while, Lin Caisang picked up the bamboo basket and continued walking. Today he must dig out more medicinal materials and go back. Even if there are none, it would be good to find a few more nests of wild eggs. It is also important to improve the food for his family.

In the forest, the trees became more and more dense, almost blocking his sight.

Lin Caisang had no choice but to pick up the machete and chop all the way to open up a 'road' for himself. He heard several more 'clucking' sounds along the way, took away a few nests of wild eggs, and even gained some punches. She also put ginseng, polygonatum, platycodon, etc. into the bamboo basket.

I raised my head and looked at the sky, feeling that it was getting late.

If I don't go back, grandma, who goes home to cook at noon, will definitely be looking for someone all over the village, and she will have to alert the elders of the whole village to help find someone!

"Come back when you're free."

After thinking about it, she murmured to herself and prepared to turn around, but unexpectedly...

With a 'bang', the sound of a heavy object falling to the ground reached her ears, making her startled and she quickly looked in the direction of the sound.

But the forest leaves were so dense that she couldn't see anything at all.

"This is the sound made by a human being, not an animal." She asked herself, but she was absolutely certain in her heart.

If it was the sound made by wild animals, it makes no sense that she only heard the sound of heavy objects falling to the ground, but there was no sound of wild beasts screaming, so it must be a human!

"What will it be....."

"Well!"

A low growl of pain interrupted her muttering. Lin Caisang frowned slightly and looked in that direction.

This voice seemed, maybe, maybe... She seemed to have heard it somewhere before, and it seemed a bit familiar. Who could it be, breaking into the inner forest without fear of death?

Lin Caisang: "..."

What the hell are you thinking about? The one who is least afraid of death is herself. Not to mention breaking into the inner forest, she is still full of curiosity.

Don't you know curiosity killed the cat?

However, no matter how much she felt that she was not afraid of death, she could not stop being full of curiosity...

"Wow, there is actually a bamboo house here, and there is also a yard, actually..."

After coming in search of the sound, Lin Caisang soon discovered a unique bamboo house with a fenced yard. She really couldn't see any of it when she was in the woods just now.

This bamboo house seems to be invisible among such dense trees.

Moreover, this bamboo house is too unique. It is simply the paradise of the world in her imagination, the place where the hidden heroes live. She wants to stay here forever.

"If I could live here forever...ugh!"
