

Star of Space 26

Chapter 26 Who can save you?

Lin Caisang thought for a while and decided that she couldn't put Ya Molian in his home. There were so many people and she still wanted to be a human being, so she couldn't really ruin her reputation completely.

Then he looked at the deserted field stalk and moved Yamolian out of the golden bead space.

"There should be people coming to this place soon."

After muttering something, she looked around and saw that there were quite a lot of pigweeds. She believed that someone would come over to cut the pigweeds after dinner soon, and she felt relieved.

"Brother Mo Lian, I have done everything I can. I can't help. I really can't help. Just wait here. Someone will come to take you home soon."

With that said, she stood up and went home carrying the bamboo basket.

But what she didn't expect was that not long after she left, two women happened to pass by carrying bamboo baskets while talking and laughing. They saw Ya Molian lying on the ground and hurried over.

"Damn it, those two women..."

In the forest, Exile Xi watched as he caught up, only to see two women. One was guarding Yamolian, while the other went to the village to call for help.

She punched the trees next to her with hatred, and with such fierce eyes, she almost wanted to carve out a piece of meat from the two women and eat them in order to calm the anger in her heart.

"Exiled Xi, you should change your temper. If you let the palace master know..." Exiled Jue glanced at her coldly. He didn't finish all the words, but he believed that Expelled Xi knew what he was going to say.

Unexpectedly, he overestimated the banishment.

"What, you still want to sue me? Huh, you have to be able to do that too!" Ban Xi glared at him and spoke disdainfully.

The palace master would not believe in the banishment. What was wrong with her temper? The more upright she was around the palace master, the more he liked her. She just wanted to keep herself as she was.

Banishment: "..."

He shouldn't have said this to the banished Xi, it was just playing the piano to a cow.

...

In the old Lin family, Lin Caisang secretly returned home, wanting to put away all the bows and arrows in the Jinzhu Space. He was afraid that his family would discover him. How could he know...

Before she could reach outside her eldest brother's room, she was stopped by a cold voice.

"You still know how to come back?"

"Well!"

Lin Caisang shrank his neck and turned around.

Sure enough, she saw Lin Changfeng with a blue face, standing at the door of his room staring at her.

"Brother Changfeng..."

"Humph, don't think that if you call me brother, I will forgive you. You are simply..." You are not afraid of death!

Lin Changfeng saw her with an earnest smile on her face and was about to defend himself. He immediately interrupted her and spoke coldly.

It's not that he is cruel, it's just that he is a person who can even teach his own sister a lesson, but in Sangsang's case, the most unbearable thing is her coquettishness.

As long as she calls Brother Changfeng a few times, her anger will disappear immediately.

"Who asked you to go to the woods? That's a place where only boys go. You are a girl's house. If you encounter some wild beast, who can save you? You, you..."

But even if he was angry again, he could only lower his voice, not daring to let the grandpa in the other room hear their voices.

"Shh, shh, brother Changfeng, let's go in and say it, don't let grandpa hear it." Lin Caisang heard what he said and quickly pushed him to the room and closed the door in one breath.

He didn't let out a breath until he was sure that he wouldn't be heard by Grandpa Lin in the other room.
