

Star of Space 285

Chapter 285 I won't leave you behind

She knew how much Yamolian had helped her these days, and she was not the kind of ungrateful person, so she made this purse with her own hands.

"good."

Ya Molian nodded.

If he lost the purse that Xiao Sangzi gave him, he would be seeking death. This girl has such a mouth!

"This is a purse that can be opened at any time. If one day..."

Lin Caisang thought for a while, hesitated and then spoke again.

"If one day the poison in your body breaks out and I'm not with you, ask someone to take out the medicinal materials inside and decoct them. But remember one thing: don't let people take the medicine according to the medicine in their purse. , I'm afraid...I can't bear the responsibility of poisoning you to death.

Her medicines are all specially prepared by her hands. Some things may not have the same effect if they are the same medicine and the same amount. She is still reminding him of this.

So as not to suffer a big loss from this.

"good."

Yamolian responded.

"I remember, we will stay together until we grow old, and we will never leave you."

Lin Caisang: "..."

Neighbor, are you still shameless? Didn't they say that people need face and trees need bark? Are all your trees barkless?

"Take your things and get out!" She drove him away angrily.

...

The next day, Lin Caisang went to see Liu Chushui early in the morning with red eyes.

"Brother, how was he last night?"

Seeing that his eldest brother was also tired at the moment, it could be seen that Liu Chushui's place was not very good last night, and Lin Changhong took care of him all night.

"I had a fever last night. It scared me."

Lin Changhong still has some shivers in his calves. They are bird's nest collectors in their village, and many people are injured every day. Some seriously injured people went to the doctor to see them, but they all had fevers at night and could not be treated. .

As soon as Liu Chushui had a fever last night, he thought to himself, it's over now!

But in the end, I thought about what my sister told me, so I gritted my teeth and followed her instructions over and over again to cool down Liu Chushui. Unexpectedly, it actually worked. The fever went away early this morning. Compared with the trouble last night, people are now Also fell asleep.

"Sang Sang, you are so awesome. If it weren't for you, he would have... uh, bah, look at my crow mouth, I can always say bad things."

"It's okay. The fever is gone. Brother, don't go to Menghuang Mountain today. Just stay at home, Third Uncle."

When Lin Caisang heard what he said, he breathed a sigh of relief and gave his eldest brother a warning. When he turned around, he saw his third uncle just coming out of the room.

"How is Third Auntie? Are you okay?"

"Okay, your third aunt is fine."

Lin Baiyi smiled and spoke to her.

"It's okay." She nodded.

"Uncle Third, this is the prescription I wrote last night. When you go to town, you can grab the medicine. We have two patients, so you might as well grab some medicine and keep it at home."

She said, handing the three prescriptions and ten taels of silver to Lin Baiyi.

Although Liu Chushui and Zhong You were both seriously injured, they had different physiques and different injuries, so they separated two prescriptions, and the other one was for the third aunt to raise a fetus.

"this....."

Lin Baiyi's eyes almost popped out of his head when he looked at the ten taels of silver.

"Sang Sang, why do you need so much money to grab medicine? Third uncle still has money on him, this..."

As he said this, he wanted to hand the money back to Lin Caisang.

"need."

Lin Caisang didn't give him a chance to refuse, and directly stuffed the money into his arms.