

Star of Space 327

Chapter 327 The best decision ever made

...

On the other side, Lin Caisang and Ya Molian quickly arrived at the bamboo house. Because it was still early, they did not go to Jian'an City immediately. Instead, they started busy making beef sauce in the bamboo house.

"It smells so good, Brother Mo Lian, why are your craftsmanship so good?"

In the kitchen, Lin Caisang, as the person who could do nothing but use his mouth, could only use his mouth to praise Ya Molian who was busy.

"You have more than one subordinate around you, right? Why didn't you let them cook for you, instead of doing it yourself?"

She really found it strange that Ya Mo Lian obviously had such a big business and there were more than one or two people around her, so why did she still need to do it herself?

Is it because I am used to living in the countryside and have long understood the true meaning of the words "do it yourself and have enough food and clothing"?

Isn't it?

"That's not their role."

Ya Molian replied while flipping the beef sauce in the pot.

Everything that can be put into his mouth must have passed through his own hands, because - he doesn't trust anyone except himself!

Even his most loyal subordinates did not believe what he had eaten. This was the truest thought in his heart, but he did not want Lin Caisang to know such thoughts.

After hearing what he said, Lin Caisang nodded in agreement.

"Yes, with your skills, it would be a pity not to cook."

As for the beef sauce, she just asked how to make it, and Ya Mo Lian was able to make it delicious, delicious, and delicious. She felt regretful that Ya Mo Lian didn't become a chef with such skills.

"It would be great if I had hands as skillful as yours."

It is estimated that apart from eating, all she can do in her life is talk about how to prepare each delicacy.

Hearing this, Ya Molian took the wooden spoon on the side, took a little bit from the pot, put it to her mouth and gently blew it to cool it, then handed it to her mouth, "Open your mouth."

Lin Caisang glanced at him, opened his mouth with a smile, and swallowed all the beef sauce on the spoon.

"Well, it's delicious and fragrant."

Tsk tsk, it tasted so delicious that she wanted to swallow it with her tongue.

"Just wait and eat, there's no need to do anything."

Ya Molian smiled and put down the spoon, went to the stove to put down the fire, and prepared to put the beef sauce into the jar.

"We will leave in a moment. Today I told him that he will not appear near the bamboo house." After finishing everything, he spoke to Lin Caisang.

Knowing that she had a secret, he didn't want others to find out, so he sent Ban Jue to Menghuang Mountain to roast beef jerky early in the morning, without letting him come here to disturb them.

Hearing this, Lin Caisang smiled awkwardly. Facing Ya Molian who treated her so well, she really didn't know what to say.

But what needs to be said still needs to be said.

"Brother Mo Lian, you will..."

"I will keep my mouth shut for a while. If you ask me to open it, I will open it again." Before she could say anything, Ya Molian said.

Lin Caisang: "..."

Facing him like this, it was impossible not to be moved. How could she be so lucky? After traveling to this place, not only did she meet such a good family, she also met Ya Molian, who was considerate to her.

What should I do? She suddenly felt that she didn't want to take the paper back.

It seemed, perhaps, that if things continued like this, marrying the man in front of her would be the best decision she had ever made in her life.

"Okay, thank you, Brother Mo Lian." She thanked Ya Mo Lian.