Chapter 353 I think more

These two people have long wanted to harm you. If they hadn't fallen on Lin Chushui this time, I'm afraid they would be disadvantageous to you in the future.

Now, even if the affair between the two of them has been known to others, Lin Caihe's intention of harming you will not change. It can really be avoided by making a marriage for her as your grandfather and third uncle think. ? "

"I also know that Lin Caihe and I no longer have a sisterly relationship."

Lin Caisang sighed, thinking about her relationship with Lin Caihe, she really couldn't tell when it started to change into this good appearance, or in other words, it had never changed like this.

"Little Sangzi, you still don't understand.

Ya Molian looked at her regretful look and tapped the tip of her nose.

"To Lin Caihe, you were never a sister. In her eyes, you were the one who stole the family's care and love from her. There was never any sisterly affection.

She regards you as an enemy. She has never thought that without you, maybe her status in the Lin family would not be as good as it is now. Looking at the entire Liang Kingdom, which family dotes on their granddaughter so much? Without you, Qiu Bo How could grandma let her be so presumptuous and not have to do anything at home?

She should have been grateful to you, but instead she hated you. For such a person, Xiao Sangzi, Lin Caihe is not worthy of your agreement with her. Do you understand? "

"I know."

How could Lin Caisang not know what Ya Molian said? She figured it out early in the morning.

"But with so many people at home, I have to be decent on the surface, and I don't want to make my grandpa and grandma feel uncomfortable, or embarrass my uncle and aunt. After all, they treat me well."

She didn't have to give Lin Caihe any face, but as for other people, especially Lin Baiyi and Yang Lin, she had to give them face.

What's more, there is Lin Changfeng who always loves her like a sister.

After hearing her words, Ya Molian fell silent.

Lin Baiyi and Yang Lin were indeed rare honest people, and it was not in vain that Uncle Baizhong treated them so well.

"Then we'll have to wait for Jian'an City. I'll accompany you to Yue Yaji Town to make clothes for Lin Caihe," he said.

"good."

Lin Caisang nodded.

"Let's go in and take a look."

After ending the topic of Lin Caihe and clearly explaining her worries to Lin Caisang, Ya Molian took her hand and walked into the cloth village together.

"Since we don't have to buy cloth, what are we doing here?" Lin Caisang was passively led into the cloth shop by her and asked him.

"You will be walking around a lot in the future, so it is inevitable to make several sets of clothes for convenience. Not only women's clothes, but also men's clothes, you need to prepare two sets." Ya Molian turned to look at her and explained.

Hearing this, Lin Caisang was stunned for a moment, but soon figured it out.

"You think more."

He even thought about how she would often go out to treat illnesses and save people. It seemed that he didn't know her well.

"I can't be with you all the time. You are like this. A healer is unusual, and there must be danger. Little Sangzi, you are fine now, but have you ever thought about what if one day your appearance no longer changes? , will it be easily found?"

Ya Molian looked at her steadily and reminded.

"Well."

Lin Caisang raised his hand and touched his face.

It sounds nice to say that her appearance will never change again, but if she loses weight successfully and settles her shape in a while, her face will no longer lose weight.
