Chapter 39 When doing things outside, remember to be careful

Lin Baiyi wanted to say more, but was interrupted by his son. The weather was too cold and the food was getting cold. He kept talking and he was not happy anymore.

Looking at the bowls of porridge that were almost cold on the table, he nodded quickly, "Yes, let's eat first, Sangsang, you found these wild eggs. Eat more to replenish your body."

"oh."

Lin Caisang responded humbly, but did not take a spoon. He just put some pickles into the bowl.

...

The next day, when the genius had just dawned and Lin Lu and the others hadn't gotten up yet, Lin Changhong prepared his bow and arrows and called Lin Caisang and Lin Caiqing. The three of them drank porridge, got some Wowotou, and followed them with them. Their Lin Changyi went out.

On the field stalk not far from the forest, several young men were also there. When they saw Lin Changhong, they all greeted him.

"Changhong, we are going hunting in the mountains, why are you taking the mulberry picking girl with you? Are you worried that she will be home alone?"

"No matter how arrogant your second aunt is, she wouldn't dare to do anything to the mulberry picking girl in our village, would she? The breadwinner is hunting game, and has she brought Chang Yi with her?"

"Sang Sang won't be with us. She will be separated when we enter the mountain later." Lin Changhong glanced at his sister and then looked back at Ya Molian who was standing among several men.

"Brother Mo Lian, I have to be back at noon today, and I have to go to town. I can't stay with everyone until the evening."

"Um.

Ya Molian just responded in low voice and did not deny what he said.

"Be careful when doing things outside." He glanced at Lin Caisang pointedly and said.

"Well, thank you, Brother Melian, for reminding me. I will pay attention."

After all, Lin Changhong was young and didn't understand the meaning of Ya Molian's words, so he just responded.

Lin Caisang: "..."

Was this said to her? Are you warning her not to be too presumptuous? That shouldn't be what he meant. Ya Molian had helped her before, so it shouldn't be like that, then...

Suddenly, she felt a sap hit on the back of her neck, and broke into a cold sweat.

Ya Molian was reminding her that Lin Changhong always went to Qianlin County to 'do things', and it was obvious that he was going to deal with Liu Baixiao. Those who were hostile to Liu Baixiao could not be undefended at all.

Maybe they wouldn't have thought of it on the first day, but on the second and third days, they would inevitably send someone to follow her secretly. Maybe in a few days, the news about her dealing with Liu Baixiao would reach the ears of the Liu family Got it!

It seemed that she had to find a way. She couldn't involve herself and her eldest brother in dealing with Liu Baixiao. That would be too uneconomical.

"Brother, Qing'er, Changyi, I, and I are in this forest. Before you go to town, come and find me. Maybe you can find wild eggs and sell them."

Before parting ways with Lin Changhong, she lowered her voice and reminded him in his ear.

"good."

Lin Changhong responded and left with Ya Molian and the others.

"Sister Sang Sang, Sister Sang Sang, where are the medicinal materials? Let's go dig them quickly." Lin Chang noticed that Lin Changhong had left, raised the small shovel in his hand, and asked Lin Caisang.

"There are medicinal materials everywhere. I'll find them for you later. You can dig them up. We won't go far away today. It's not safe." Lin Caisang pinched his little face and said.

Originally, if she was alone, she could go anywhere, but with two little guys like her here, she couldn't do whatever she wanted.

"Sister Sang Sang, can these medicinal materials really be exchanged for money?" Lin Changyi asked again.

Although he is only seven years old, he absolutely knows about silver, and this thing is still his favorite.
