Chapter 410 Didn't see the cow in the cowshed

Lin Caihe didn't use the medicinal materials himself, so he must have sold them to drug stores in the town.

"So, that girl stole almost twenty taels of silver alone, and also took Sang Sang's clothes." Lin Laogan concluded.

"that....."

Just when everyone was about to leave, Lin Chushui spoke weakly.

All eyes in the hall were turned to him, which made him shrink back and feel a little scared.

"Have your money been stolen too?" Lin Caisang asked him.

"no."

Lin Chushui quickly shook his head, how could he have any money?

"When I entered the yard just now, I didn't see the cows in the cowshed..."

"What?"

Lin Baiyi screamed and almost fainted from anger.

No wonder he felt that his home was so quiet today, as if something was missing. He thought it was because Lin Caihe ran away and everyone was in a bad mood, but it turned out that it was because he didn't hear the sound of a cow braying!

"This damn girl, she is so brave!"

Without that cow, how would he pull wooden tools to sell? Lin Caihe would really kill him, she really dared to do it.

"The dozen rabbit skins in my room are also missing. 69shux.com" Lin Changhong said with a dark face.

He originally planned to save some more to make a rabbit fur quilt for Sang Sang in the winter. The fur of the dozen or so gray rabbits was the best, and it would definitely look good when made. She thought Sang Sang would definitely like it.

But, all of a sudden it was gone.

"It's okay, you can earn it back if you lose it." Lin Caisang comforted them.

"I don't know what that girl wants to do. Even if she, a little girl, runs out with money, what can she do?" Yang Lin was so angry that his stomach ached. The outside world is that she, Lin Caihe, a little girl, can wander around at will. Of?

"She probably doesn't want to marry Yaguman," Lin Changfeng said.

He should have been wary of Lin Caihe. That girl was a high-minded but low-handed person. He felt that Yaguman was not worthy of her, but little did he know that maybe she was the one who was not worthy of Yaguman?

"It's just that now I don't have a tael of silver at home. Sangsang, how do you open a shop?" He looked at Lin Caisang and asked.

As for Lin Caihe, there is no need for him to worry. With so much money in his hand, as long as he can live a stable life, he can live a good life no matter where he builds a house or buys a few acres of land.

"My money has not been stolen."

Lin Caisang shrugged and looked at Lin Changfeng.

"I didn't keep the money in the room, I kept it all on my body. I will take care of the business of opening the shop myself. As for Third Uncle..."

After a pause, she felt heartbroken when she thought that Lin Baiyi's efforts these days were in vain.

The two taels of silver didn't seem much to her, but it was all earned by Lin Baiyi braving the rain and calling for business in one village after another. It was indeed not easy.

As a daughter, Lin Caihe actually stole all the hard-earned money her father earned. Not to mention, she even took away the cows that he relied on for a living. She never expected that without the cows at home, her father would How to sell wooden items?

"Uncle Third, I'm going to the town tomorrow to have a look and buy two cows. I also need old cows to plow the land on my barren mountain," she said.

"Sang Sang, where did you get that much silver? Two old cows cost less than ten taels of silver." Lin Baiyi frowned and reminded her.

The key point is that he didn't spend a tael of silver on the cattle he bought before. He wanted to save some money to pay back to Sangsang, but he didn't know that Lin Caihe had stolen both the money and the cattle.
