Chapter 413 More fierce than me

Lin Caisang: "..."

She raised her head and rolled her eyes at him angrily, could she still say that?

"You don't know that you are worrying your third aunt. No mother can bear it.

"You have to bear it if you can't bear it."

Ya Molian didn't think so much. He felt that it would be good for Lin Caihe to leave. If he stayed at home and lived under the same roof as Lin Caisang, he would still have to be worried all day long. Wouldn't it be a good time to leave now.

"When are we going to see the shop? Where do you want to open it?" he asked.

Now that the dried fruits are made, you can't just leave them out and not sell them, right? He thought it was better to find a good shop first.

"What do you think? Which is better, Qianlin County or Ye County?" Lin Caisang asked him.

Hearing this, Ya Molian chuckled and looked at her playfully.

"You are more vicious than me. I was just about to ask, which one is better, Yueyaji Town or Qianlin County, but you want to reach out to Ye County."

"How can you call this cruel? It's obviously a long-term vision."

Lin Caisang frowned and strongly disagreed with Ya Molian's description of her.

How big the place is and how big the business flow is. How can Qianlin County be compared with Ye County? What's more, she is not short of money, and she is absolutely confident in the dried fruits she makes.

It's something to do anyway, so why not just make it big?

"Leave the cherry picking to Ban Jue and the others, and let's go sit in the bamboo house." Ya Molian suggested.

Lin Caisang thought for a while, nodded, handed the basket in his hand to Ban Jue beside him, and the two of them walked towards the bamboo house.

After a while, the two of them arrived at the bamboo house. They sat in the main room and talked while drying the rainwater on their bodies over a charcoal fire.

"I ordered people to take the dried cherries and dried loquats you made to the county. I asked the county and the shops in the town. They reported back that the owner of the shop in the county was willing to buy them for thirty cents per catty."

Ya Molian said.

"The purchase price is thirty cents?"

Lin Caisang raised his eyebrows, that means the selling price is even more expensive, and the shop will not do loss-making business.

"Are dried fruits so expensive?" she asked.

"Nowadays, dried fruits are mainly made by natural drying. There is no drying room like yours." Ya Molian replied.

"It is impossible for most fruits to be sun-dried and have bright colors on the surface. Moreover, even if they are sun-dried, they will be hard, just like dried fruits, full in color and delicious in taste. Yes, very few."

"oh."

Lin Caisang nodded, indicating that he understood.

"Then I want to open a shop in the county. I have already thought of the name of the shop. It will be called Baiwei Snacks."

she said.

"But Son'er, if you want to open a shop, these two kinds of dried fruits won't work. You must have more varieties." Yamolian reminded.

"When you open a shop in Ye County, do you only sell one or two kinds of things? How can the business be good like that? All business has a joint relationship. For example, if a customer wants to eat something today, come over here. While buying a little, if you see something new, ask about it and buy some more if you think it's good."

"How can there be only these two?"

Lin Caisang's eyes widened, and he lowered his head and twisted his fingers.

"Just what I can make with my hands now are dried cherries, dried loquats, rose cherry jam, rose loquat jam, cherry jam, loquat jam, rose jam, rose shortbread, egg yolk shortbread, and then there is cherry wine. , cherry fruit wine..."
