

Star of Space 427

Chapter 427 Isn't it interesting?

"I've bought all these cloths. Just make two sets of clothes for Qing'er while you're at home. She hasn't worn new clothes for many years. Lin Baiyi looked at the cloth in her hand and said.

To be honest, his second daughter's treatment at home is far inferior to that of his eldest daughter Lin Caihe.

Because Lin Caihe and Lin Caisang were the same age, they usually made new clothes. However, Cai Qing's clothes were all clothes that the two sisters could not wear, and they almost never wore new clothes.

But even so, Lin Caihe was still not satisfied. What else could he say?

"It's already this time, but you still have the time to care about these few feet of cloth?" Yang Lin raised his head and glanced at her husband.

"When?"

Lin Baiyi asked her back.

He knew that she was worried about her daughter, but this was what her daughter said herself. What else could he say? After all, it was her daughter's own marriage. Whether they liked it or not was secondary. The key was whether her daughter was happy or not.

"Alin, let's not say that Yaguman's kid's face is ruined, but his temperament is real and he is not bad at being our son-in-law."

"But his hands..."

Yang Lin didn't mind being shameless, but was it true that Ya Guman's left hand was disabled? She was afraid that her daughter would suffer hardship if she got married.

She had previously agreed to He'er's marriage to Ya Guman. She also hoped that He'er could endure some hardships and change her stubborn temper. But Qing'er's temperament was so good, how could she be willing to let her endure hardships?

"Tsk.

Thinking of Ya Guman's hand, Lin Baiyi also frowned and let out a light 'tsk'.

"How can this person be perfect? As long as Yagu Man can be good to our young children in the future, what can he do if his hand is disabled? There is still one hand that can do work. Besides, we are all from the same village. From now on we will Just help them more."

"If you say that, then I can't say anything." Yang Lin was helpless.

"But Baiyi, you still have to ask Yagu Man clearly whether he is interested in our Qing'er. If he doesn't mean that, then forget it. You can't wrong our Qing'er."

"Okay, I'll ask." Lin Baiyi nodded.

Just when the Lin family reached a consensus, Yaguman was hurriedly summoned home by the Yazhu family because his eldest brother Yacangman was frightened by a big snake and went crazy.

When being sent home by several people, they saw Cao Sheng and Cao Sheng roaring and screaming like madmen. They directly knocked his own mother Ya Zhu to the ground and almost beat her to death like a big snake.

Fortunately, Yaliangman also came back with him, and he was able to hold his eldest brother back.

At this moment, Yacangman was tied to the pillar with a hemp rope by Yaliangman and Yazhu. Even so, he was still yelling some words that others could not understand.

Mrs. Yazhu was crying beside her so hard that she couldn't help herself, complaining about everything.

Father Ya glared at his daughter-in-law with hatred, "You still have the nerve to yell? Why don't I blame you for this!"

"Blame me? Why are you blaming me? What have I done?" Ya Zhu quickly wiped away her tears and asked Ya's father.

"It's all your fault. If you hadn't wanted Cangman to marry Lin Caisang, would such a thing have happened to Cangman? He wouldn't have gone into the mountains to collect bird's nests today!"

Ya's father's every word was an accusation against Ya Zhu's family.

He now wonders if his family's wishful thinking of marrying Lin Caisang has offended the gods. Otherwise, why is it that his family's warehouse was full of snakes, but others didn't even see the snake's shadow? Where are you?
