

Star of Space 455

Chapter 455 The problem is still too simple

But at the same time, she also frowned, obviously unhappy.

"Mother Bai."

"Princess, the old slave is here."

Aunt Bai was standing not far away. When she heard her master's call, she immediately came over and bowed respectfully to stand beside the eldest princess.

"Tell the guards to drive those people away." The eldest princess was heard giving orders to Aunt Bai.

"Princess, what do you mean..."

Aunt Bai was stunned when she heard her instructions.

The princess has always been kind, not to mention knowing that those people came to seek medical treatment, why did she still ask her to order the guards to drive them away? This is not something her parents, a princess, would do.

"Aunt, they can just wait if they want. What do you care about them?" The second prince was a little confused when he heard her words. After looking at his elder brother, he persuaded his aunt.

"What do you two little guys know?" The eldest princess glared at them.

"Since those people are the housekeepers of various mansions in Jian'an City, if they really want to seek medical treatment, they can even send a message to my princess' mansion, but they are waiting in secret. What does that mean?"

"What do you mean?" The second prince still didn't understand.

"Auntie means that they are all interested in recruiting that young lady?" The prince suddenly understood what his aunt meant.

In fact, it is normal for every mansion to recruit a number of people, and everyone needs a doctor sometimes.

But it would be wrong for them to wait secretly outside the eldest princess's house like this. Regardless of whether they took the eldest princess's face into consideration or not, what if the doctor's daughter didn't have that intention?

"Mother Bai, go ahead and tell the guards that this is what the king wants."

He looked at Aunt Bai and ordered.

Everyone knew that his aunt had always been kind-hearted, and he didn't want others to think that her aunt had changed, so it was better for him to come forward.

"Yes, princess, great prince." Aunt Bai responded and left the courtyard.

"Auntie, are you talking too little about your masterpiece? The doctor's girl might..."

After Aunt Bai left, the eldest prince looked at the eldest princess, but before he finished speaking, he saw the eldest princess' hand on the table slightly raised, and he immediately stopped talking.

"No matter what that girl thinks, she can't have anything to do outside my palace. I can ignore other places." The eldest princess said.

Moreover, how could such a person who could even detoxify her body like such a poisonous person like the solicitation from just a few mansions? I'm afraid that girl doesn't even look down on the palace, right?

"You guys, the problem is still too simple."

She looked at the two brothers, sighed and shook her head.

"My aunt just woke up that day, and she didn't see clearly what the girl looked like. However, just based on the things you told your aunt about the girl in the past few days, and the conversations between her and you, you can tell It sounds like she doesn't really care much about your royal family status.

Think about it, she can even talk to you calmly, let alone others? It would be fine if they invited her with nice words, but the servants in the house had already been raised to be cunning, so how could they be polite to a girl who had the title of doctor for nothing? She must be arrogant.

When the time comes, you will not even realize that you have offended someone, and you will still feel that it is someone's fault. In the end, it will also leave a bad impression on the girl's mind.
