Chapter 457 The lion opens its mouth

"oh.

Lin Caisang responded lightly.

But she thought 'haha' in her heart. She only believed what Aunt Bai said. If there was something urgent, she could make that guy forget to leave the front door and climb over the wall instead.

He was clearly avoiding her.

"Princess, when I went to the front yard, I happened to encounter the guard bringing the girl in the palace, so I took it upon myself to bring her." After bringing Lin Caisang to the eldest princess, Aunt Bai said respectfully.

When the eldest princess saw Lin Caisang coming, she had already stood up with the eldest prince.

"I've met the eldest princess."

Lin Caisang did not kneel down to salute, but only bent his body. ~"°•.~~.•°""~

"Young lady, you are welcome. Please help me cure my poison. Please sit down." The eldest princess helped Lin Caisang's arm and motioned for her to sit down. She then turned to look at Aunt Bai.

"Mother Bai, serve tea."

"Yes, princess."

Aunt Bai responded and retreated.

Soon, the three people sitting in the yard started chatting, mainly the eldest prince talking about the current state of his aunt, the eldest princess.

"Ms. Langzhong, my aunt still eats very little now. Can you think of a way?" After talking a lot, the prince finally ended with a question.

Lin Caisang kept checking the eldest princess's pulse and listened to the prince's words. After a while, she stopped.

"It's normal to have few meals, so the prince doesn't need to worry.

"Why?"

The great prince asked immediately.

Is it normal to eat so little? He felt that the three meals his aunt ate together were not enough for him to eat one meal. Is this normal?

"Anyone who takes those medicines that are as bitter as bile every day will lose their appetite." Lin Caisang explained.

Although she is a doctor, she also doesn't like to drink medicine because it is so unpleasant that she even wants to vomit out her overnight meal. Therefore, comparing her feelings with others, she can naturally understand the difficulties that the eldest princess is facing now.

"Princess, I have some snacks here. If you feel bitter in your mouth, just eat one and your chest will feel much better."

As she spoke, she took out two cans of dried cherries from her small satchel, put them on the table, opened one and handed it to the eldest princess, indicating that she could taste it first.

"This is....."

The eldest princess picked up one and put it in her mouth, and her eyes suddenly became brighter.

This tastes really good, a little sour yet sweet, and it really makes my chest feel a lot more comfortable.

"This is dried cherries made from the cherries I picked myself in the forest. A few medicinal materials are added to these two cans, which are good for your health. Therefore, you still have to eat these two cans of dried fruits yourself. You cannot Shared with others."

Lin Caisang explained to her while putting the lid on the box.

"good."

The eldest princess naturally nodded.

"Ms. Langzhong, if my aunt eats this dried fruit, will she not need to take medicine?" the prince asked her.

Hearing this, Lin Caisang chuckled.

"Your Majesty, this is not a magic medicine. You still have to take the medicine, but starting from today, I will write a new prescription to minimize the bitter taste in the medicine."

she said.

"That's good, that's good."

The eldest prince listened and nodded happily. As long as his aunt was fine, he would be relieved.

"Ms. Langzhong, my aunt's health is really too much for your trouble."

"It's okay, this is what I should do."

Lin Caisang chuckled and shook his head.

However, listening to the words of the eldest prince, he thought of what Brother Mo Lian said before. The eldest prince has a "Baixiang Shop" in Jian'an City. Should she consider "Lion's Big Opening" and buy that shop?
