

Star of Space 460

Chapter 460 An unqualified little girl

"this....."

Those people thought about it and felt that what Old Man Zeng said made sense.

They are popular people in front of the masters of various houses. They are also well-known people inside and outside. They have always been arrogant and arrogant. How can they think highly of those ordinary people.

But the lady in charge of the doctor is not a commoner, she is very powerful. They are all used to being domineering outside, and they have become accustomed to it, and they regard the girl in the doctor as a commoner in Jian'an City.

If they really offended her and refused to treat her, they would have no way to explain to their master what to do.

"When will the doctor's girl come back? Someone stood up and pointed at Zeng Yulang and asked.

Lin Caisang was the one wanted by their master, and they had nothing to do with her, but who did these two in front of them count? They were just two steward dogs that Lin Caisang found temporarily, and they were given to make them look good?

"Then how do I know?"

Old man Zeng curled his lips when he saw that he had a straight face and looked like he was going to eat the father and son.

Although they are just ordinary people, they do not mess with officials and do not harm nature or justice. No matter who these people are, it has nothing to do with them.

"The lady of the house has gone to the eldest princess's mansion. Why don't you go ask her at the princess's mansion?"

"Well.

The man choked at his words and his whole face turned red.

"Yulang, I heard that the eldest princess is almost well. Then the emperor's reward should also be given to the young lady, right? Will she enter the palace now?" Just when the man didn't know what to say, I heard Old Man Zeng speak leisurely and ask his son.

"Maybe."

Zeng Yulang replied.

Of course it's impossible that he doesn't know, because this is Lin Caisang's own business.

However, these people were really irritating. None of them took Lin Caisang seriously. Looking at the way they looked just now, it was as if their master had invited Lin Caisang to treat her illness. How much money had they given her? Like a face.

You have to be so thick-skinned.

You know, even if he is treating the eldest princess, Lin Caisang is a doctor with high airs.

"Dad, last time you told me, what were the rewards on the imperial list?" he asked his father.

"This... I can't say it."

Old man Zeng glanced at those people secretly from the corner of his eye, and sure enough, he saw that all of those people's faces were blue and purple.

Not to mention the gold, silver and jewelry, just the death-free gold medal is enough to make these people walk away without food. Do they still want to point fingers in front of Lin Caisang?

Those people also thought about hearing that it was written on the imperial list that as long as they rescued the eldest princess, they would get a gold medal to avoid death.

A gold medal for immunity from death. There are only a few people in the Liang Kingdom who have this honor. The one who received the gold medal for immunity from death from the emperor was the lucky girl who happened to save the eldest princess. Otherwise, everyone in this Manjian'an city would He is qualified to get the gold medal for immunity from death, but that little girl is not qualified!

But unfortunately, the unqualified little girl got it. What can they do?

From now on, let alone them, even their masters would have to nod and bow down when they saw the doctor's girl, and they would have to walk even more bent over, not daring to offend her in the slightest.

"Everyone, I don't know when this doctor's girl will come. She might come soon. Do you want to queue up to register with my son?"