Chapter 463: I want to keep someone here

"Feng'er is back, why have you been gone so long?" The eldest princess raised her eyes and looked at the eldest prince.

"I went into the palace and brought back the reward given by the lady in charge." The eldest prince said.

Hearing this, Lin Caisang looked behind him and saw several guards carrying several boxes. She guessed that there should be ten thousand taels of gold in them, right?

"You kid, why did you get this reward just after you said you wanted it? Your father will scold you later." Although the eldest princess cursed the eldest prince, she still had a smile on her lips.

There are many difficulties in being in the royal family.

For example, this time, Lin Caisang cured her of the poison in her body. The emperor and queen liked Lin Caisang's medical skills and wanted to keep her in the palace.

Based on her understanding of her brother, he must have wanted to take advantage of Lin Caisang's visit to the palace to receive the reward, mention the recruitment matter by the way, and then directly keep the person for future use.

It's just that her nephew is a clean stream in the royal family. Although he has never been shy about intrigues, he will not carefully design anyone.

I'm afraid her brother never thought that the idea he had thought about for a long time would be ruined by his most beloved son, right?

"How can my father be free?"

The eldest prince smiled and glanced at Lin Caisang.

"Ms. Langzhong, this is a gold medal to avoid death. Please keep it."

He handed Lin Caisang the death-free medal he had stolen from his father's imperial study from his arms, and he explained in a solemn voice.

"Okay, thank you, Your Majesty." Lin Caisang put the death-free medal into his small satchel.

"I have brought three land deeds here, all of which are rare fertile fields outside Jian'an City. My father said before that you can choose one of the three." The great prince then took the field that had been prepared. He took out the deed, put it in front of Lin Caisang, and said.

"Tian deed?"

Lin Caisang was stunned when she saw Tian Deed.

Why is it different from what she and Brother Mo Lian imagined? Shouldn't it be directly converted into silver?

Where could there be so much fertile land near Jian'an City? Even if there was, it would have been taken over by others. Can it be left to her?

"Yes, Tianqi."

When the land deed was mentioned, the prince's face was obviously embarrassed.

He had also suggested before that he could just let his father convert the fertile land into real gold and silver and give it to Lin Caisang. After all, the girl was a wanderer and could not stay in Jian'an City for a long time.

But his father scolded him. He listened to his father's words and wanted to keep Lin Caisang in Jian'an City.

"Don't you want the deed to the land? That doesn't matter. I can buy you thousands of acres of fertile land with cash."

Lin Caisang didn't speak. He thought she was angry at her father's plot against her, so he quickly spoke.

"Oh no."

After hearing his words, Lin Caisang quickly shook his head.

"Your Majesty, I like to work with flowers and plants, especially medicinal materials. With these ten thousand acres of fertile land, I am not afraid of running out of medicinal materials. This is just right."

She also recalled what the emperor meant. He wanted to keep someone.

It's just that the prince's temperament is quite to her liking. He knows what his father's plan is, but he still thinks about her in every way. If she guessed correctly, if he takes this reward, she will have to suffer a lot when he goes back.

If she could make a friend in the future, she would be willing to make friends with him.

"That's good, that's good." The great prince breathed a sigh of relief.
