

Star of Space 470

Chapter 470 It will definitely come

"What are you doing? There are people in the alley.

She hurriedly hid in the carriage and shouted at Ya Molian with a red face.

Not to mention that there were other people in the alley, old man Zeng and his son were just standing there watching them off. Wouldn't Ya Molian feel embarrassed?

Didn't he think the way he lifted her into the carriage just now was very...ambiguous?

"Sit down, we're leaving."

Ya Molian ignored her scolding and warned her.

Lin Caisang sat down quickly in the carriage, but still stared at the curtain angrily, where Ya Molian's back was looming, making her want to reach out and knock on it. ๓

...

Zhi Mansion, General Zhi Lingyang and his other wife are waiting outside the mansion.

"General, the doctor's daughter is not here, why don't you send someone to take a look?" The little lady beside her was full of anxiety, her neck was stretched out, and she didn't see anyone there. come over.

"Wait."

Zhi Lingyang glanced at her, his face still calm.

"If you can't wait any longer, go back to your home. What are you doing? What time is it now?"

"I....."

The young lady opened her mouth and wanted to say that she could not be in a hurry. My sister's face depended entirely on the doctor's girl. If she didn't come, wouldn't it be all in vain?

But she knew that although her husband looked calm on the surface, he was actually more anxious than she was.

In the end, I could only close my mouth and continue waiting.

However, she secretly made a plan in her heart. If the doctor's girl did not come today, she would personally go out and wait at the door of Zeng's mansion every day, making sure to wait for the doctor's girl.

"I won't say anything anymore. Why don't I just wait."

Zhi Lingyang glanced at the aggrieved lady again and sighed softly.

"Lele, I don't mean to hurt you, it's just..."

"I know, I know, the general is just worried about my sister, I know." Jin Lele interrupted her without saying anything, with a clear look on her face.

Not only was the general worried, she was worried too.

"Don't worry, the doctor's girl will definitely come."

Zhi Lingyang raised his hand and touched Jin Lele's face to reassure her.

The two ladies in Zhifu are different from the wives in Jian'an City. You can't see the overt and covert fights in Zhifu. However, sometimes, these two ladies really let Zhi Lingyang. The general has a headache.

Here's the thing:

Back then, when he was just a deputy general, Zhi Ling Yang fell in love with Jin An'an, the eldest daughter of Jin Mansion, so he entrusted a matchmaker to accompany him to propose marriage in person.

As a result, he accidentally ran into the two Jin sisters who were digging a bird's nest in the tree in Jin's house. They were almost hit by the young lady Jin Lele who was beside him at the moment. Fortunately, he reacted in time and hugged her in. In his own arms.

Now it's good. He went to propose marriage with the intention of marrying the eldest daughter of the Jin family, but he happened to be holding the second daughter of the Jin family. Isn't that the end of the world?

Sure enough, his marriage proposal failed, and he was driven back by Master Jin with a disgraced face, feeling very sad in his heart.

But there are such coincidences in the world. The two young ladies from the Jin Mansion actually fell in love with him at the same time, and cried and clamored to marry her. Master Jin was helpless by the two daughters, so he just threw away the problem. Gave them to themselves.

After all, they are sisters, and they cannot throw away their relationship because of a man. Let them make their own decisions about who to marry!
