Chapter 499 It's not okay to not adapt

"You committed something, what did you commit?" Lin Caisang asked.

"The master is asking you something, why don't you answer it quickly!" Upon hearing this, Mrs. Ya quickly shouted at Zhang Shunlai.

"Go back to the master, the villain's mother-in-law was fooling around with other men, and was caught by the villain. The man had some background, so he... sued the villain to the government, and the government handed the villain over without going to court. Sold."

Zhang Shunlai thought about the past and spoke to Lin Caisang.

Lin Caisang: "!!!"

With someone like this, the government doesn't care about the mistress these days, but the third son is selling her to his original wife, right?

"Is that so?"

she asked Mrs. Yag.

"Yes, what I registered here is that he offended the high official." Yabozi quickly replied.

"Um."

Lin Caisang responded.

Listening to Zhang Shunlai's words, she sounded quite eloquent, unlike the people I saw before, who were either so excited that they couldn't speak clearly, or were so frightened that they were trembling.

If this Zhang Shunlai were properly trained, her Baiwei snacks would be in need of a responsible shopkeeper.

"You can introduce the others to me."

"Hey, okay."

When Mrs. Ya heard what she said, she frowned slightly, thinking she didn't like Zhang Shunlai, so she continued. 'G' '9' 's' 'h' 'u' 'x' '.' 'c' 'o' 'm'

"Dear guest, the second person at this station is named Wang Laibao."

"Wang Laibao? Why are all these names..." Lin Caisang was speechless.

Why do these names sound so festive? Just hearing these names makes people feel good about them.

"Miss Lin, these people have been sold, and their names are all false. As long as they can be sold smoothly, they will be called whatever the Yaxing tells them to be called."

Ban Jue stood next to Lin Caisang and said something.

"Can it still be like this?" Lin Caisang told the truth.

Does that mean that after she buys them back, she can also give them names to make them easier to call?

"Haha, distinguished guest, these people are all destined to be despicable. If you don't like these names, you can change them in the future." Yabozi smiled at Lin Caisang and said.

Lin Caisang: "..."

You really have something like this.

However, these people are all slaves. Once they are stamped as slaves, they will be servants for the rest of their lives. Not only themselves, but also their descendants will have to work as servants in various mansions.

Moreover, when a slave man marries a wife and a woman marries a husband, they must obey the master's will. Even if you marry today or this one, and the master asks you to change tomorrow, they can't say anything and can only Obey.

What's more, when you get older, if you don't have a few children, you will be considered useless by the owner, and then sell them and buy a few more ones that can have children.

The owner believes that since they were bought with money, they must create benefits for them. If the family has no offspring to make horses for the owner, then what is the use of buying them?

She knew this, Ya Mo Lian had popularized it to her.

Although she feels super uncomfortable, it's not okay to not adapt. She is also living in such a society at the moment.

"Um."

She could only respond lightly.

"You go on."

"Hey, okay."

Yabozi responded and continued to introduce her.

Finally, Lin Caisang came out of the dental shop with the deed of a shop in his small bag. Behind him were ten men, thirty-one women, and three male stewards.
