Chapter 509: Just beat me up to vent your anger

Although she won't be beaten, she must be reprimanded. Neilin is indeed dangerous. Even if she really has a place where she can go to Jian'an City at any time to hide, she cannot be allowed to come in alone.

Who knows if there are any potential dangers, and no one has eyes on their back.

...

Inside the bamboo house.

Lin Caisang ate a bowl of noodles with satisfaction, even the soup went into his stomach, he burped, and then put the bowl down.

"Brother Mo Lian, please stop talking about me. If you talk while eating, you will accumulate food."

Taking a deep breath, she looked at Ya Molian, who was sitting opposite her, reminding her of this and that, and said helplessly.

"Otherwise, you'd better beat me to vent your anger."

Ya Mo Lian was so nice in the past. Everyone who saw their family would just nod their heads and leave directly without even saying a word. But what about now?

She really felt like there was a 'Tang Monk' following her. She just entered the inner forest, and he was reading about him from the moment she entered the kitchen until she finished the whole bowl of noodles.

The key is that every word he says is not repetitive. She really admires his ability.

"Why did I hit you?"

Ya Molian reached out and tapped her forehead.

"Sonny, I've decided. If you do those dangerous things secretly behind my back in the future, I'll keep lecturing you in your ears. Isn't this a good idea?"

He finally found a way to treat this little girl. Looking at her hopeless look just now, he felt funny even thinking about it.

Lin Caisang: "!!!"

Moving the bowl in front of her farther away, half of her body lay on the table, wailing.

"Just spare me. I will listen to you in everything from now on, isn't that enough?"

Just for the sake of her changing her honorific title, stop talking about it, okay? She really couldn't bear it.

"My ears are almost calloused."

"how come?"

Ya Molian picked up the dishes and chopsticks and prepared to go to the kitchen to wash them.

"You've just finished eating. Don't lie down. Come with me to the kitchen to talk."

"You still have to say it!"

Lin Caisang's body that had just been raised fell down again.

Weren't they all talking all the time? Although he was talking and she was listening, could he take a break?

"Um...Brother Mo Lian, you go to the kitchen. I have something to do, just for a while." She straightened up and said to Ya Mo Lian in a consultative tone.

"good."

Ya Molian nodded and turned to the kitchen.

"call."

Lin Caisang breathed a sigh of relief and moved into the pasture space.

"Yu Jing, I want to read the ranch rules. Please call them out for me." She said to Yu Jing as soon as she entered the ranch space.

‘Dear master, there are no rules in the pasture.’

A line of words appeared in the jade mirror, and Lin Caisang was stunned when he saw it.

"No? How come there isn't? Isn't there a Golden Pearl Order in the medicine garden space? How come there is no code in the ranch space?" she asked.

‘The Golden Pearl Order is the code for the entire Golden Pearl Space, not just for the Medicine Garden Space.’ Yujing answered her question.

"how so."

Lin Caisang frowned, pursed his lips and stopped talking.

Suddenly, she thought that she could not grow other crops in the medicine garden space before, and she figured it out little by little, or asked Yu Jing.

"Since there is no code, there are some things I don't understand. Can I ask you?" she asked.
