

Star of Space 513

Chapter 513 Are you illiterate?

Regarding Lin Chushui's character, since she was able to rescue him from the dire straits of Liu Baixiao's house, she was naturally trustworthy. She believed that he would not be the kind of child who spoke ill of others secretly.

"Third uncle probably wanted to ask you to treat the injuries on Brother Guman's hands and face, but seeing that you were busy, he didn't dare to disturb you." Lin Chushui said.

He was watching Uncle San and Brother Changfeng struggling over there. He felt uncomfortable listening to it. Since this matter had to be done, he simply asked directly. They were all members of the same family, so why hesitate? What about?

"Um?"

Lin Caisang was stunned when he heard the words 'Brother Guman'.

"Chu Shui, is the marriage between Qing'er and Brother Guman really going to be finalized?"

"Grandma and Third Uncle went to talk to Brother Gu Man. Brother Gu Man was also willing. It seemed that they were discussing to finalize the marriage in the new year. Lin Chushui nodded.

"So fast?"

Lin Caisang was a little surprised.

But when I think about it, it's not too soon. Ya Guman is seventeen this year, and the decision to get married can be regarded as letting go of a worry.

"Actually, it's not going to happen any time soon. It's time to settle it." She said to herself again.

"Um."

Lin Chushui nodded.

"What are you saying about 'um'? You know a lot at a young age." Lin Caisang said angrily when she heard his response.

"Tell Third Uncle that I will go and have a look later... No, tell Third Uncle to turn back. Brother Gu Man can bring him to Menghuang Mountain. If someone sees him at his house, what should he say to me later? I can't afford to offend him, but I can afford to hide from him."

After thinking about it again, she said.

"OK."

Lin Chushui nodded when he saw her saying that.

"Sister Sangsang, can I, like Brother Changhong, go to the school to learn calligraphy from my husband?"

After hesitating for a while, he looked at Lin Caisang and asked.

"You can't read?"

Lin Caisang was surprised, even more surprised than when he heard that Lin Caiqing and Ya Guman were getting engaged. After all, Lin Chushui came from the Liu family, right, so he couldn't read?

"Don't you know a word?"

She asked again.

"When I was at the Liu family, I could only write my own name. Now when I eat with Brother Changfeng on Menghuang Mountain during the day, I can also learn a few words from him."

Lin Chushui looked down at his toes and said with some embarrassment.

How can he read? He has never been to school, and the servants of the Liu family have just agreed to it. They never write in front of him, let alone his parents will hire a teacher for him. That is not possible at all. possible.

"Then you follow my eldest brother to the school... No, Chu Shui, go and see how many eggs are in the kitchen at home, pick out twenty and put them away. In the evening, I will go to the school with you, old gentleman. Home."

Originally, she wanted him to feel it directly, but she was still afraid that Liu Baixiao would make trouble in the school after learning about it.

It would definitely be much better if she told the old man in person. At least the old man would not let Lin Chushui learn to read because of Liu Baixiao's simple troubles.

"You should be able to read and write. I was wrong about this. However, do you want to be like my elder brother who only knows how to read, or do you want to be like Brother Changfeng?" she asked.

There is a difference between taking a merit test and simply being literate so as not to become illiterate in the future. Lin Chushui is only eleven years old. Enlightenment is possible at this age, and it is relatively late.

The key is that Lin Chushui wants to learn.
