Chapter 518 Boy, you still dare to doubt my medicine

"He probably saw that you were the breadwinner of your family, and wanted to scare your parents into crying and begging him to save you, and then gave him a lot of money. But it turned out to be a good thing. He gave his own thoughts to Damn it.

Doctor Liu must have never expected that as soon as Yaguman's parents heard that their son's hand was hopeless, they immediately asked him to leave the house alone and live alone.

He might be feeling regretful now.

"He kind of helped me." After hearing Lin Caisang's words, Ya Guman was very indifferent and just said softly.

Hearing his words, Lin Caisang was stunned. It seemed that this man was really not a foolish and filial person, but a man who could handle things clearly. Qing'er would not be any worse off if she married him in the future.

"I'll give you a few injections first to activate the blood vessels in one arm, and then I'll prescribe you some medicine. In the evening, I'll ask my third uncle to deliver the ointment to you. You can stick it on the painful area."

As she spoke, she took a needle and pricked several acupuncture points on Yagu Man's arm.

After a while, Yaguman stood up and pulled up his sleeves.

"Sangsang, is this okay?"

"It's not that fast. I'll come here every other day and I'll prick you once. If I add some ointment, the pain in your hand should be gone in half a month. After another two or three months of rest, the hand will be the same as before." "

Lin Caisang put away the silver needle and replied.

"As for the wounds on your face, this is the scar removal ointment I made myself. You can take it back and apply it. For a superficial injury like yours, two boxes are always enough."

From a large pile of scar removal cream that he had refined on the side, he took out two boxes and handed them to Yagu Man.

"How long will this medicine last?"

Yaguman took the medicine box, hesitated, and asked her.

"Don't worry, this is medicine. It won't break down in a year and a half. The injury on your face will be healed in less than two months." Lin Caisang groaned in his heart and said to himself: Boy, what are you still doing? Dare you doubt my medicine.

"Then I don't want it now. When Qing'er grows up, can you give me two more boxes?" Yagu Man said.

Lin Caisang: "..."

She was about to spit out blood. It turned out that she didn't want her face to look good now.

She has never seen such a person before. Is she afraid that the warblers outside will pounce on him again when they see the injury on his face healed? How confident do you have to be in your own face?

"Okay, come and get it whenever you want it."

She took the scar removal cream back from his hand and put it away. After all, we would be a family in the future. By helping him, she was also helping her own family. Treating a few wounds on her face could be cured at any time.

"besides....."

"besides?"

Lin Caisang was speechless. Is this guy really the silent Yagu Man before?

Is this too much to ask for?

"Can I trouble you not to tell anyone about my arm that can be cured?" Ya Guman asked Lin Caisang in a weak voice.

He was afraid that the news that his hand injury could be cured would disappear and spread to the ears of his parents, and he wanted to move him, a money tree in their eyes, back home.

It has only been a few days since he moved out. If they go to the clan leader to cry and say that they regret it, the clan leader will also relent.

After waiting for some time, when he settles down in the old house, and his mother is talking about his bad things outside, by that time, even if his arm is cured, how can his parents become the patriarch of the clan? Crying there, he can have the loyalty to retort.
