Chapter 571 Being driven back?

The bullock cart turned around, and Lin Baiyi took the two elders and his family back to Yacun.

A few days later, the weather in Ye County finally improved. It was the first clear day after days of rain, and it was cloudless. The sun shone on me, making me want to take off all my clothes and go to the river. Roll around inside.

On Menghuang Mountain, Lin Caisang has also begun to get busy. The first season of rice is ripe and ready for harvest.

There was a lot of rice planted on Menghuang Mountain, and it was naturally impossible for the Lin family to harvest it all. Lin Changhong went to call a few aunts in the village to help, because the weather had cleared up, and the people picking bird's nests on the mountain had all gone to the mountain. It is impossible to stay at home and earn more than ten cents a day.

"Sang Sang, this rice thresher is really easy to use. When you roll it like this, all the grains on the ears of rice will go into the bucket. You can go back and get the sack and carry it home. It's really easy."

Lin Baiyi naturally rushed to be the first to do it, and everyone was also doing it enthusiastically.

"Uncle Third, although the rice beater is easy to use, you must be careful and don't be careless." Lin Caisang warned with a smile while handing bundles of rice ears to Lin Baiyi.

"Sang Sang, Sang Sang, we can just come here. It's so dirty here. You can go to the mountain to rest. Don't be tired when you come back." Lin Changhong saw that his sister was busy, so he quickly came over and took the rice ears in her hands. He grabbed it and said.

Lin Caisang: "..."

Her brother felt that she was so afraid of getting dirty. No matter how dirty or tired she was, she had come all the way. He lowered his head helplessly and looked at the empty embrace, feeling that he was really being pampered too much.

"Come on, I'd better go back and get my grain seeds."

Aren't we busy planting the second crop? The grain seeds were just soaked a few days ago, and they should sprout in the next two days.

"Brother, I'm going to leave now. You can go check out the acres of land that were mowed yesterday and plow them out. I'm waiting to use them."

"Okay, okay, go back quickly, don't be stuck here." Lin Changhong replied to her and continued to hold the rice ears to Lin Baiyi.

...

On the deserted mountain.

Lin Caisang looked around and found that no one was in the pharmacy, drying room, or yard except for the drying ground.

It can't be said that it was empty. There was another person sitting in the yard, waiting for her. When he saw her coming, he looked at her funny and asked.

"Why, were you driven back?"

"Why are you being driven back? My brother is feeling sorry for me. What are you doing?"

Lin Caisang replied angrily to Ya Molian and glared at him. Her eldest brother didn't know how much he loved her. He couldn't help her by not letting her work. It was too late for her to be proud.

It's so inappropriate to be said to be rushed back.

"What are you doing here? I'm not letting you recuperate at home. Is this how you recuperate?"

"Almost okay." Ya Molian said.

I didn't lie to her this time, it was almost as good as it got.

Because he knew that if the wound on his back was not good, this girl would be angry. It was funny to think about it. People who never cared about the wounds on their bodies before now put themselves in a lot of trouble because of a certain person. Within the rules and regulations, I forced myself to heal my injuries as soon as possible.

"What are you going to do next?"

"What can we do? Prepare to plant the second batch of rice. Didn't you see that it's a good day?" Lin Caisang raised his eyebrows and said.

"I mean, it's time for the Baiwei Snacks over in Ye County to open. When do you plan to go?" Ya Molian reminded her.
