

Star of Space 573

Chapter 573 Overcrowded

"At that time, those people will be sent to the army in various places as slaves. They will not be brought back until they are forty-five years old, and then sold to various governments to do rough work.

Lin Caisang: "..."

Doesn't that mean that those women will be pulled into the army and serve as soldiers... ahem.

"Has it been like this in previous years?" she asked after coughing twice.

"In previous years, there would be some kind-hearted ladies who bought a few of them to be their own maids, but there were really only a few of them, and most of them had to be taken away."

Ya Molian explained.

Not many people have sympathy for the people of other countries. They all feel that they can be enslaved as they please. It is also common for them to buy maidservants and send them to military camps.

If there are no people sent from other countries, the family members of some people who have committed serious crimes will be sent to the military camps as slaves.

As for these people, it is said that they can be released after reaching the age of forty-five, but there are only a few who can survive to this age. Even if they are released, they will be sold in the dental shop. Who wouldn't dislike it when they heard that they were coming out of a military camp?

"Then take me to see you later." Lin Caisang said immediately.

As for the manpower, she had to buy it anyway, so it didn't matter if she bought a few more. Moreover, the price of men obtained from Ji was much cheaper than buying them in a tooth shop, and they came directly from the government, which was more trouble-free.

"If you want it, I will ask Ban Jue to buy the person directly and bring him to Mulberry Garden for you to see." Ya Molian said.

"is this okay?"

Lin Caisang asked him, feeling that this was a bit inappropriate.

"When you bought those people before, you asked me to take their pulse, but you don't need to do it now?"

It's okay to ask her to save one or two, but to ask her to save a lot of people, she's not the one who runs a shelter, let alone the abbot of the temple. She really doesn't have the energy.

"Need not."

Yamolian shook his head.

"They have been drugged since they were bought. In short, in order to sell them to make a fortune faster, neither the people from the North nor the people from Liang will let them have any more heirs. Are you worried? will not happen."

"It's really cruel."

After hearing his words, Lin Caisang couldn't help but murmured.

"Hard?"

Ya Molian looked at her with a smile and asked softly.

She has never seen someone more cruel, and he doesn't want her to know it now.

"Then there's no need to let Jiang Li tame him again?" Lin Caisang asked.

"Need not."

Yamollian shook his head.

After coming out of the government office, they had passed through the hands of the ruthless nuns and the generals and soldiers who escorted them. They had already become docile and obedient as they still needed to be tamed. However, they still needed to find someone to control them.

"When the time comes, just find someone more powerful to take them with them."

"good."

Lin Caisang nodded.

"I'm going to see the rice seeds. Do you want to come with me?"

When he said this, she forgot that she came here to see her rice seeds, which would be ready for planting soon.

"go."

Ya Molian naturally went with him.

...

A few days later, Exiled Jue was sent to Ye County by Ya Mo Lian to buy a maidservant. In Ya Village, Lin Caimulberry on the Menghuang Mountain had tidied up the paddy fields and started to sow the rice seeds.

Because the rice on one side was still being harvested, the news that Lin Caisang was preparing to plant another season of rice soon spread throughout the village.

The news spread not only to the entire Ya Village, but also to Yue Ya Town. Some curious people came to watch the excitement. Menghuang Mountain suddenly became a gathering of people here and there. It was overcrowded almost every day. .
