Chapter 578 It would be easier to separate

"Ahem, of course, it depends on which family the woman is from. Naturally, your grandma and third aunt can't do it.

Seeing that his old wife's eyes were like knives shooting at him when she heard what he said, he quickly added another sentence.

Lin Caisang added Lin Changhong: "..."

Their grandpa's desire to survive is also very strong.

"Mo Lian, have you eaten? Come sit down and eat something together." Seeing that Lin Laojie was giving her such face, Lu Qiubo stopped looking at him and greeted Ya Mo Lian.

Ya Molian sat down next to Lin Caisang and glanced at her sideways.

"Clan Chief Lin, please tell me what you mean first." He looked at Patriarch Lin.

As for Chief Ya, that old man can be ignored. He is not a very kind-hearted person. He wishes that his family would be the best in the whole village and that everyone else would look at his face.

"I don't know what to do, anyway... How should I put it? If you have to dig puddles, Sangsang, the twenty acres of ponds you have on Menghuang Mountain are very good. The land is It's big enough and can store a lot of water, enough to irrigate many homes."

Patriarch Lin is getting older. Although his hands and feet are a little weak, his experience is still there, not to mention that he also fought in the war and is an old man who has seen things outside.

"That's it.

When he mentioned this, Lin Caisang narrowed her beautiful eyes.

"Then the patriarch's intention is to simply dig a large water storage pond so that every household in the village can use it?" she asked.

This is a good idea. Such a large pond is easy to manage, but the ban does not allow children to go there. Parents can still tolerate it. There is no need to create a hole here and a hole there, which will disturb the children's curiosity. Got hooked.

"That does not work."

Ya Molian shook her head.

"Clan Chief Lin, I think that if we really have to dig ponds to grow two crops of rice, it would be better to separate the Lin clan from the Ya clan. What do you think?"

he asked Patriarch Lin.

"Well..."

Patriarch Lin slowly tapped the table with his right hand, squinting and thinking for a long time.

"Mo Lian, you are right, it would be easier if we separated."

During the drought in Ye County, the drought was very serious. It would be bad if the Lin clan and the Ya clan had a big conflict over water.

"Most of the fields in the village are occupied by the Lin family and the Ya family. It won't be troublesome to separate them. In the future, we will dig the ponds and let them carry water themselves if they want it."

"Then the land in the village can't be dug up in vain, right?" Lu Qiubo asked his question.

The land in the village is managed by the local government, and you have to pay as much money as you use it. How can you let people dig ponds at will?

"Your family doesn't have to worry about this matter. Who wants water? How can we let them use it in vain? The money to buy the land is naturally collected by each household. As for digging the pond, everyone has enough energy. As long as it can be done next year After a good year, who can't do this?"

Patriarch Lin slapped the table and said.

"But this matter can't be done now, Sangsang. If anyone asks you in the future, you will grit your teeth and won't tell anyone. Just wait for your second rice harvest and let everyone see it." , they won't gossip behind your back."

He looked at Lin Caisang and warned her.
