Chapter 60 Why do you need to be literate? Doesn't he know how to hunt?

"Wife, you, the third family, and He'er have some free time to cultivate the land. The weather is nice this year and it's not too cold. We have to sow the seeds early to avoid this bad weather again. All the food is finished.

"Okay, okay." Mrs. Lin Lu responded.

"Grandpa, there is one more thing I want to discuss with you and Grandma." Seeing that everything that needed to be said was finished, Lin Caisang glanced at his eldest brother, and then turned to look at Lin Laogong seriously.

"It just so happens that the third uncle and the third aunt are here, please wait and listen to their opinions."

"What's going on?" Lin Laogan asked.

His intuition told him that what Sangsang was about to say was related to the whole family and was not her alone.

"I think....."

"Grandpa, I want to save the money I earn from hunting in the mountains."

Before Lin Caisang could speak, he heard Lin Changhong speak first, taking everything into his own hands.

Lin Caisang: "!!!"

This elder brother is really impatient. Is it possible that he is afraid that grandpa will slap her when he hears her words? Also, couldn't you put it more tactfully?

"What, do you really want to embezzle the family's money?"

Lin Caihe, who had always thought of himself as a transparent person, became furious and screamed when he heard Lin Changhong's words.

"Grandma, grandma, father and mother, look at them, they don't want to make things easier for the family at all!"

Sure enough, she guessed it right. Lin Changhong and Lin Caisang just wanted to hide their private money, so she drank porridge every day these days, and almost made herself sick!

"Why steal the family's money?!"

Mrs. Lin Lu glared at Lin Caihe displeasedly.

"If you don't know how to speak, just keep your mouth shut. Whoever earns the money in the family can spend it. Changhong, what do you mean? Tell me and your grandpa."

She knew that this idea was definitely not Lin Changhong's alone.

"Grandma, this is what I mean." Lin Caisang said.

"It's not like what I said to my eldest brother. We really keep all the money we earn by ourselves. We just want to keep some money around us so that we can use it for urgent matters in the future.

Of course, I also want to save some money and let my eldest brother go to school to learn a few words. Although my eldest brother is already thirteen years old, it may be a little too late to go to school, but it is better to know a few words than to be illiterate. "

She glanced at Lin Changhong, then looked at Lin Laogong.

"Of course I have to get this. Changhong should learn to read." Lin Laogong nodded immediately.

Lin Changhong's failure to go to school has always been a worry in his heart, but his family had no money and could not afford to support his two grandchildren, so he had no choice. Now that Sang Sang had brought it up, he naturally agreed.

"Grandpa, it's not enough to have an eldest brother studying alone at home. Why does Brother Changhong need to be literate? Doesn't he know how to hunt?" Lin Caihe immediately became unhappy and rushed to speak.

The reason why she wanted to compare with Lin Caisang before was because her eldest brother was a scholar and was superior to others.

But if Lin Changhong could read and be better than her elder brother, wouldn't she have to pick mulberries in the bush again? This is not okay, absolutely not! She firmly disagrees!

However, no one paid attention to her words.

"Changhong, if you plan to go to school, then I will teach you some words these days so that you can keep up with them in school in the future." Lin Changfeng looked at Lin Changhong and said gently.

"Brother..."

Lin Caihe was anxious. Brother really wanted Lin Changhong to go to school to learn literacy?
