Chapter 733 Aren't you all happy?

"Patriarch, what do you mean by this? Why can't we understand?" A woman looked at Patriarch Lin with an embarrassed expression and asked.

Letting them not have to carry water now is like killing their parents, which makes them resentful. If Lin Caisang really dares to do this, she will never let Lin Caisang live a good life in their Ya Village in the future. of!

"I heard that Mr. Mo Lian abandoned Sangsang? Are these words coming from the mouths of idle people like you? Huh?" Patriarch Lin stopped talking to them. Question them sharply.

"this....."

After hearing what Chief Lin said, all the villagers who had been asking Lin Caimulberry to take the wolves away fell silent.

Indeed, there was not a single person among them who had not said this.

"Even if we say this, Lin Caimulberry cannot cut off our water. Our crops are all dependent on that little water." A man stood up and spoke bravely to Patriarch Lin.

"No matter how good your crops are, they can only last for a year, but the gossip you say may ruin Sangsang's reputation for a lifetime. Which one do you think is lighter and which is heavier?"

Patriarch Lin asked them back.

"Hmph, you guys are such ungrateful and ungrateful people, taking the water that Sangsang saved for you, and still ruining Sangsang's reputation. Why should you let Sangsang give you water? Let me tell you, a few days ago The water should be stopped! Let's see who has the spare time to speak ill of others!

Faced with the accusation from Patriarch Lin, everyone lowered their heads and did not dare to say a word.

"Chief, we know we were wrong. We will never dare to speak ill of Sangsang again. Look, why don't you go to Sangsang's place and tell her, but you must not stop the water supply."

After a while, a man finally said to Patriarch Lin with a shy face.

"snort!"

Patriarch Lin snorted coldly, scanning the crowd with his sharp eyes like an eagle.

"I see, you just think that there will be more food this year and you will have money in your hands, so you are too busy. So let's do this. I told Sangsang that starting from tomorrow, the copper coins paid by each family will become two cents!"

It just so happened that he had calculated before and found that there were a lot of repairs in the village. The money collected would probably not be enough.

"What?!"

When everyone heard what Chief Lin said, they almost jumped up in shock.

Two cents a day, doubled in one go. They never thought that because they were so angry that they needed money to carry water in the deserted mountains, they tried their best to talk quickly, but they even used the money in their pockets. .

Wouldn't this cost them their lives?

"What? Aren't you all happy?" Patriarch Lin raised his eyebrows and looked at them.

"this....."

How dare everyone say no?

If they are not willing, then they will have no water to use. Even if they are not willing, they still have to be willing.

"Everything must be obeyed by the patriarch."

"That's good."

Patriarch Lin nodded, dismissed everyone, and headed towards the Lin family.

...

When Patriarch Lin came to the Lin family, he happened to see Lin Caisang coming back dragging two long bamboos. When he saw it, he screamed and went to help.

"Sangsang, why are you dragging such heavy bamboo alone? Where are your brothers and the others? Why didn't they come to help you?"
