Chapter 777 Taking Two Missions at the Same Time

In response to Lin Caisang's order, Lin Chushui really didn't do anything these days. He just stared at those books and memorized the things on them. But today...

"Chu Shui, what are you doing?"

When Lin Caisang came to the pharmacy, he saw Lin Chushui sitting there, staring at some medicinal materials.

"Sister Sangsang, are you here?"

Lin Chushui saw her and quickly stood up to greet her.

"If you don't read or sleep, what's so good about these medicinal materials?" Lin Caisang looked at him funny and asked.

Reading is a very boring thing, especially when a whole book needs to be memorized by rote, it will make the whole person uncomfortable. Therefore, she can understand that Lin Chushui takes a break occasionally.

However, when you take a break, you can close your eyes and relax, eat something, take a nap, or go outside to breathe some fresh air.

Why are you staring at the medicinal materials?

"I've finished reading it." Lin Chushui blinked and said.

"What?!"

Lin Caisang was really shocked when he heard what he said.

"You said you have read all four books and memorized them all? So quickly?"

It's only been a few days, the eighth day, right? This kid actually memorized four books?

Are you kidding her?

"Um."

Lin Chushui nodded.

"The things in those books are very easy to remember. I can memorize them by memorizing them."

Raising his hand, he scratched the back of his head and smiled sheepishly.

Lin Caisang: "..."

It seemed that she was really right. Lin Chushui was a malleable talent, and she would have to spend more time on him in the future.

"Then what are you doing when you look at these medicinal materials?" she asked.

"I don't know what's going on. Ever since I read the books you gave me, when I look at some medicinal materials, some weird medicinal materials will appear in my mind, the kind that are just picked and fresh."

Lin Chushui said.

Hearing this, Lin Caisang raised his eyebrows and looked at the medicinal materials on the table.

Now that I have learned a little bit about medicinal materials, can I connect the dried medicinal materials with the freshly picked ones? Is that book so magical, or is Lin Chushui special?

Or maybe both are related.

"Ahem, that's good. Once you memorize it, it'll be good. Then go and rest." She said to him.

"Okay, I want to go to Liu's house first." Lin Chushui said.

"Well, go ahead."

Lin Caisang nodded and watched him leave before disappearing into the Jinzhu space.

...

"Jade mirror, have I completed my hidden mission?" She asked when she came to the jade mirror.

'The hidden mission has been completed. Will the master accept another high-level mission?' Two lines of characters were displayed in the jade mirror.

"Another mission?"

Lin Caisang was slightly confused.

"The Second Prince's injury hasn't healed yet, so he can take on another mission?" Doesn't one have to be completed before he can take on another mission?

Now, although the Second Prince's skin injury was almost healed, it would be impossible for the bones to recover to their original state within a few months. She thought it would take at least half a month to complete this task.

'The hidden mission is completed ahead of schedule, and the reward is: two missions, one month.'

"seriously?"

Lin Caisang was really excited when he saw the words displayed on the jade mirror.

"Wait a minute, Yu Jing, you mean that in the next month, I can always take on two tasks at the same time, right?" Instead of just two tasks, Jian'an City and Shaohua City, right?
