Chapter 857: Whoever flirts first is cheap, she deserves it!

Little did she know that her glare would only be rewarded with another slap.

There was a "pop" sound.

Mrs. Zhou's hand, which was originally supporting the carriage, was raised to cover the other half of her beaten face.

"It's your blessing that I can take a liking to these two little girls next to you. How dare you slander me? Who are you? You dare to bring out the name of the county governor? I don't even dare to do so. "

The leader looked at Mrs. Zhou and sneered again.

"Brothers, since this old woman is so ungrateful, let's show her how powerful she is."

He glanced sideways at the two people behind him. They immediately understood and strode forward to pull Mrs. Zhou out from between the two maids.

The two maids were afraid that they would be beaten to death if they failed to protect Mrs. Zhou when they returned, and they wanted to snatch Mrs. Zhou back. However, how could they defeat the two young men? They were pushed away immediately. .

The next moment, Mrs. Zhou, who originally thought she was superior, was thrown to the ground by two men.

The clothes on his body were already muddy with mud, and one side of his face was stepped on by one of the men with the sole of his shoe. The other side of his face was pressed against the mud, with tears in his eyes because of the pain.

The other man, on the other hand, kept pushing his feet towards her body and kicked her legs hard, as if he wanted to beat her to death.

"Help, help me, help me..."

While wailing, she asked for help from those above the official level.

However, whoever sees such a scene would not quickly hide far away, but who would dare to step forward and cause such bad luck?

Just when she felt ashamed and angry, she suddenly saw a carriage passing by on the official road, and just in time, the curtain of the carriage was lifted, and she saw two very familiar faces.

"Sangsang, what's going on over there?"

Lin Changfeng was sitting in the carriage, because the carriage was moving very slowly, and Lin Caisang opened the curtain of the carriage, so he naturally saw the situation under the big tree on the side.

Involuntarily, he turned to look at his sister.

"Do you want to take care of it, in broad daylight..."

"In broad daylight, there are people who want to kill you. Brother Changfeng doesn't need to pay attention to this trivial matter." Before Lin Changfeng could finish speaking, he heard Lin Caisang's voice, like the frost in the twelfth lunar month of winter. Generally, it's unbearably cold.

He was startled and looked at the person under the big tree again. Suddenly he felt familiar. The person being bullied turned out to be... the wife of the Zhou family!

"Sangsang, you did this?"

He asked his sister with some disbelief in his eyes and some understanding.

"Um."

Lin Caisang did not deny it. After taking one last look at Mrs. Zhou, he closed the car curtain and sat down.

"Whoever flirts first is a bitch, she deserves it!"

Lin Changfeng didn't say anything, he just curved the corners of his mouth slightly and sat quietly.

Sang Sang is right. If people like Mrs. Zhou don't get the punishment they deserve, then there is no justice in this world. It's time to let her know what she shouldn't do.

On the other side, after seeing those two familiar faces, especially after receiving Lin Caisang's cold glance, Mrs. Zhou did not dare to cry any more, but held the soil tightly with both hands.

After a long time, the three people felt that they had had enough fun, and after sipping at Mrs. Zhou, they turned around and left, not really doing anything to the two maids.
