Chapter 86 The gods who came to save us

Although she knew that this thing probably didn't exist, and that death was like a light going out, it still had an effect on her heart. She was just afraid, and there was nothing she could do about it, as her brain was out of control.

"Little girl, where did you come from? Why haven't I seen you?" the old woman looked at her and asked.

"Oh, I...I came from far away." Lin Caisang replied with a smile.

Turning around, he glanced at the notice offering a reward. My dear, this is not a notice offering a thousand taels of gold. It is a notice posted by several wealthy families in this town to the county government.

The notice said that one thousand taels of gold was the minimum. As long as it could save the lives of the entire town, the wealthy families were willing to contribute more money.

Taking a deep breath, she reached out and took off the notice, then turned to look at the old woman again.

But this look is incredible.

The old woman's eyes widened as she looked at the notice in Lin Caisang's hand, and tears kept falling from her old eyes.

"Girl, girl, are you the god who came to save us? Oh, god, please save us. We are all good people, and we don't want to die in an unknown way."

As she spoke, she knelt down towards Lin Caisang.

"Old lady, don't do this." Lin Caisang hurriedly supported her.

She, a little girl, could easily lose her life if an elder kneels down to her like this.

"You get up first, get up first.

"You are an immortal, you are a good person."

The old woman muttered and wiped the tears from her eyes.

"Old lady, can you tell me what's going on with the people here? When did they start to contract the strange disease?"

Lin Caisang asked.

This is Hongling Town. Although it belongs to Qianlin County, it is not part of the county. There is no way to go to the county government after the list is revealed, but she is sure that there must be a place where a few people can come out to talk to her about the situation, right?

But she doesn't want to go to those places now, she just wants to understand the situation fundamentally first.

"Come, come, god, come with me."

The old woman shook her hands to signal Lin Caisang to let go of her, and then led her to a place.

"God, this is it. This is the Gong family. The first people to contract the strange disease are the Gong family." A young man said to Lin Caisang with a dark face, a little angry on his face.

He heard on the way that someone had unveiled the list, so he followed him. There were many people who followed him, and he almost caught up with a group of people.

"Gong family?"

Lin Caisang looked at the high-gate courtyard, but it was a quite large mansion. There were really many wealthy families in Hongling Town.

"That's his house." The old woman said in a loud voice.

"Hey, what a sin, what the Gong family did is really not what a human would do!"

"Huh? Old lady, what do you mean by this?" Lin Caisang was puzzled.

She had seen the reward notice, but Gong was the person who contributed the most money to the reward this time. Why wasn't he a human?

"They..."

"Old lady, your health is not good, let's find a place to talk slowly first." Lin Caisang saw that she was about to speak, thinking that it must not be clear in a sentence or two, so he suggested.

"well."

The old woman answered, and the group of people walked towards a hut.

...

After chatting with the old woman and several sick people in the town for more than half an hour, Lin Caisang finally understood why they all hated the Gong family who paid the most money.

But it turns out that it was only a few young ladies of the Gong family who were initially infected with the strange disease.
