Chapter 88 Being poisoned and sick at the same time

But who will tell her why this blood is poisonous and diseased at the same time?

Are you kidding her?

Taking a deep breath, she poured the bloody water in the two bowls onto the ground, washed them with clean water, filled two more bowls of clean water, and decided to try again.

This time, she changed someone, and she thought it might be the reason why the man just now was sick.

However, after a while, she was disappointed. The two bowls of blood were also green and black. In other words, the people in this town were poisoned and sick at the same time.

Or it can be said that the strange disease they were infected with was itself such a strange virus, and the disease and the virus coexisted.

"God, can we still be saved?" The old woman looked at Lin Caisang with hopeful eyes and asked her.

"you....."

"Where is the doctor who posted the notice? Is he here?"

Just as she was about to speak, she heard several voices ringing out at the same time. When she looked up, she saw dozens of people arriving at the hut at the same time. It looked like they must be several gentlemen from wealthy families, and they were well-dressed.

"I am the one who revealed the list, you are..."

"Oh, Miss Langzhong, the master of our Hong family, you can just call me Lao Hong. I heard that you revealed the list, so I wanted to ask you to stay at my house first. Miss Langzhong, I have ordered my servants to make arrangements. Room for girls to rest."

The chubby middle-aged man's face was full of smiles, and he took a step forward and said to Lin Caisang.

"Mr. Hong, what does this have to do with you? Are the people in your family as serious as mine? Miss Langzhong, please go to my house. My house..."

"Ms. Langzhong, go to my house. I have ordered people to prepare meals. You must be hungry after walking all the way, right?"

"Girl, come to my house. My family runs a medicine shop. You can use all the medicinal materials at your disposal. It is most convenient. If you don't have medicinal materials at home, just give your order and I will go to heaven and earth to help you find them."

"This doctor's daughter, you'd better go to my house. My house is the closest to here, and my family's condition is also the most serious. You..."

Several masters argued over it, but to no avail. However, when the middle-aged man with thin cheeks finally spoke, the other heads of the family looked at him with a 'swish' in their eyes.

"Gong, what's the matter with you here? Go and cool down!"

"Who dares to live in your home, without fear of being poisoned and killed by a vicious person like you? You still have the nerve to invite the doctor's girl to your home? What are you worried about?"

"Your family deserves retribution, and you still want to be treated. Even if the medicinal materials at home are watered down, I will not sell them to you Gong family!" The man who claimed that his family opened a medicine shop said angrily to Mr. Gong. .

"You, you guys..."

Master Gong's lips trembled and he wanted to reply, but after all, he had done something wrong and caused so many people to lose their lives innocently. How could he dare to say anything more, so he had to shrink his neck and say nothing.

"Ms. Langzhong, you..."

"Masters, there is no need to say anything. I will live in this hut. If there are patients at home, you can come here." Listening to their noisy, Lin Caisang had a headache, and he quickly spoke out. Stop their words.

"Also, since there is a notice from the government here, then there are people from the government, right? Please let me know that I am here, and ask them to come here to discuss anything with me."

"this....."

When the gentlemen saw what she said, they did not dare to disobey her and could only nod in agreement.
