Chapter 894 Live in Prince Mo's Mansion

"My lord.

Dou Qiankuo looked at that scene and didn't know how to speak to his prince.

His prince was indeed too impatient this time. If it were him, he would be like Lin Caisang and not have a good look towards the prince.

After all, it was really unsafe to go to Baibind Mountain all the way. She could die at any time. It would be even worse if there was someone next to her who was constantly staring at her and wanting her life.

Sui Zijin took a deep breath and squeezed the hands in his sleeves tightly.

"Go back."

What else could he do but leave.

...

A group of five carriages set off for Baibind Mountain.

In the carriage, Lin Caisang watched Ya Molian leaning against the wall of the carriage with her eyes closed, so she took a piece of clothing nearby and covered him.

Unexpectedly, the hand she was about to take back was caught by him. The next moment, with Ya Molian's strong pull, her whole body fell towards him and threw herself into his arms.

"Do you really think I can sleep?"

"What are you doing, are you afraid that people outside won't know about our relationship?" Lin Caisang raised his head and glared at him.

Although this place is in a carriage and there are all their own people outside, it is still not good. What if someone from the Imperial Prefect's Office really discovers it?

"So what if you know?" Ya Molian's thin lips curled up slightly.

"You have to know sooner or later. When you come back from Baibind Mountain, you can live in Prince Mo's Mansion and see what those people can say and do.

Lin Caisang: "..."

He rolled his eyes at a certain neighbor speechlessly, and there was really nothing he could do against her.

"When I come back from Baibind Mountain, I have to go back. How can I stay here forever?"

There is a time limit for her tasks, okay? She can't stay in Shaohua City indefinitely. She still hopes to do more tasks.

"I'll go back with you." Ya Molian said.

"You can also go back?"

After hearing his words, Lin Caisang was stunned for a moment, but then quickly shook his head.

"It's better not to leave. You stay in Shaohua City. I don't know why, but I always feel that the poison on your body and the attitude of those in the palace towards you are very strange."

Yes, that's what she felt.

She didn't feel this way when she didn't go to Shaohua City before, but now that she's here and has come into contact with those people, she can feel more and more something fishy.

"Have you discovered anything recently?" she asked Ya Molian.

"The antidote is not my father's own, does this count as a discovery?" Ya Molian said.

"What?"

Lin Caisang was stunned for a moment, unable to recall the meaning of his words.

When she figured it out, her eyes sharpened, she stepped away from his arms, sat aside and looked at him seriously.

"You mean that the antidote to the poison on your body is not owned by the Emperor himself?"

"Um."

Yamolian nodded.

"Who could that be? The poison doctor raised by the emperor?" Lin Caisang guessed.

"Probably not."

Ya Molian shook her head, thinking that it wouldn't be what she guessed.

"The people in the palace spread word that the emperor secretly met with a person a few days ago, but no one knew who that person was. That day the emperor punished everyone in the palace, including the shadow guards. Never stayed."

he said.

"So mysterious?" Lin Caisang was surprised.

As an emperor, it is impossible not to leave a person by your side to receive guests.

If the other party is just a great poison doctor, it is impossible to be so mysterious. This can only show that the other party's identity is not even comparable to that of the emperor, so the emperor is following that person's habits.
