

Star of Space 907

Chapter 907 It's in my hands

Seeing him like this, Lin Caisang put forward his own suggestion.

"ah?"

Butler Xin's eyes widened immediately.

How could it be possible to gag his young master? If he really did this, his young master would kill him directly after he returned to the house.

Although Suri wanted to kill him right now, knocking Suri unconscious was personally ordered by his family. He was just following orders. His family should protect him a little when the time comes, right?

"No way, this is absolutely impossible."

He shook his head repeatedly and said that he couldn't do anything like this.

"Girl, how about you give me some more medicine that can make my young master lose his voice? What do you think?" He asked again.

"I'm afraid that won't work."

Lin Caisang shook his head and rejected his proposal.

"There will be an antidote for my medicine next time, but if the same person gets hit a second time, he will have to be a mute for the rest of his life. I didn't think carefully about it last time. I didn't expect that after taking a medicinal bath, The medicine has been cured. If it happens again, I'm afraid..."

However, there is also a contingency, if nothing happens, if Butler Xin insists on asking for it, then I will give it..."

As she spoke, she reached into her small satchel to get the medicine.

Seeing this, Butler Xin quickly shook his head.

"No, no, girl, it's better not to give up. If my young master has any evil intentions, you will have to kill me."

How dare he joke about this kind of thing? If he really poisoned the young master, he would be finished for the rest of his life... Well, how could he have the rest of his life?

"Do you want Butler Xin?" Lin Caisang raised his innocent eyes, looked at Butler Xin, and asked.

"No, no, no more." Butler Xin continued to shake his head.

What just in case? How can such a thing be just in case? Even if there is an emergency, it is not something he, a butler, should try.

"Sorry to trouble you, girl, then... the younger one will go back first."

He had no choice but to continue listening to his master's roars and ghosts.

"You, I really belong to you." After Butler Xin left, when the car curtain was lowered, Ya Molian raised her hand and tapped the tip of the little girl's nose, but there was nothing she could do.

She sounds so righteous and solemn, but in fact she is just a playful little girl.

"If you keep tossing him like this, will Su Ri be able to return to Shaohua City alive?" he asked her.

"Why not?"

Lin Caisang took off his mask and raised his eyebrows.

"I said he can survive, that is, he can survive. His life can only be in my hands."

Raising her hand, she slowly pulled back her fingers to show her ability. She couldn't play as long as she wanted, so why couldn't she live to go back?

...

After almost a month of running around, the group finally arrived at the foot of Baibind Mountain.

There is only one town at the foot of Baibind Mountain, which is not considered a town, and the village is not considered the settlement of the village. Although there are many houses, most of them are dilapidated and look like they are about to collapse.

And the population is really small.

"Steward Xin, are you looking for a family to live in, or are you looking for a place to stay by yourself?"
Lin Caisang looked at the ruins of the village in front of him and asked Steward Xin who had stopped the carriage.

At this time, Butler Xin was also frowning. He really couldn't imagine that such a place could be inhabited.

But the group of people has already arrived here, and it is impossible not to stay. No matter what, they have to wait here for Lin Caisang to come down from Baibind Mountain and continue to treat his young master's poison.
