

Starchild 471

Chapter 471: Secre

“Mei... Mei... Mei...” Ling Ling confusedly looked at Mei, who slowly approached her, gently stretched out her hands and pressed on her breasts.

She skillfully opened Ling Ling’s bra, looking at her smooth skin exposed in the air. Mei (Star Thunder) stuck out her tongue and lightly licked with curiosity.

“Ah!” Ling Ling groaned like a cat. Her body almost became weak and limp.

Mei was immersed in the touch with could bring happiness and didn’t have any intention of stopping.

“Mei... this place... will any person come here?” Ling Ling didn’t really resist Mei’s behavior, but she worried someone would see them.

“...” Mei shook her head and lightly pressed her fingers on Ling Ling’s watery lips.

No, no one would come.

Because this was the secret garden of the Starwing Knights.

Mei’s teeth lightly bit on Ling Ling’s full fruits, enjoying the wonderful, soft, smooth skin, which was covered by a layer of pink right now.

Her breasts were full, but didn't sag. The towering double peaks didn't know the principles of gravity at all.

Her cute and slightly trembling appearance was like a budding pink rose, seducing Mei to pick this flower.

Taking their clothes off, to Mei's wishes, she finally tasted the sweet juice.

Kissed on the top of the bud, a taste of sweet liquid naturally echoed in her mouth. Mei (Star Thunder) couldn't help but swallow, the liquid quickly went down her throat, and the taste was much sweeter in the memory of Star Thunder's bloodline.

"Ah... oh..." The groan of the girl echoed in the secret garden of the Starwing Knights.

Soon, the golden beetle returned and hid under the leaf again, and loyally recorded the sweet scene.

Well, it was definitely not peeping, but the duty of the holy beetle. It must watch the medicinal field for the Starwing Knights, it was a secret weapon of the leader of the Starwing Knights.

As for seeing the things it shouldn't see and finding the secrets it shouldn't know, they were just some small probability events!

Yes, it couldn't be because Hua Yue found the thing in the morning, so she specially let the beetle double the guard here!

Ling Ling ground her teeth and puffed in the green grass.

Her wet hair tightly stuck on her snow-white skin, and her beautiful face still looked radiant.

Green beads of dew dripped on her naked body, flowed past her flat belly and dropped onto her slender legs, making cute Ling Ling look more pretty.

“This time... is Ling Ling?” As the leader of the Starwing Knights, Hua Yue started to worry about the trend which appeared in the Starwing Knights recently.

“Ling Ling... you also ran first covertly...” The sword skill class was still going on. Hua Yue ground her pen with a worried look. For the first time, she felt that the passage of time was too slow!

What happened? It’s not noon yet, and there were two great things that happened in the secret garden today.

Lulu.

And Ling Ling.

Who would be next?!

Mei, what are you thinking?! At the same place you enjoyed Lulu in the morning, you enjoyed Ling Ling at noon. Are you going to keep on in the afternoon and at night too?

You will soon expose yourself if you don't stop!

The most important thing is why you chose Lulu and Ling Ling? I think I should be more intimate with you? If anything happened, I should be the first. Why...

No, don't panic! I'm the most excellent member of the White Golden Rose family! I must keep calm!

Hua Yue forced herself to calm down and showed a perfect smile on her face.

Don't worry, don't hesitate, all members of the Starwing Knights are connected together due to Mei, so we supported each other and arrived at this point. Didn't we?

We all like Mei, and it isn't a secret that everyone wants to be more intimate with Mei.

However, Lulu and Ling Ling are moving too fast!

What magic have you used? How did you make Mei become so proactive?

In Hua Yue's memory, Mei wasn't a girl who would proactively get touchy feely with others.

She was kind and a bit shy and restrained, however, she would step forward bravely if any of them was in danger. This was the Mei she knew and the Mei she liked

“There must be something wrong...”

“Mei looks like she is enjoying it too much...”

Hua Yue watched the two videos again. She ground her teeth and had a wild guess.

Mei... maybe it's because she is practicing the “Closed Mouth Zen”, so she becomes more approachable than usual. Maybe the “Closed Mouth Zen” got her into a very special mental state.

If it was true, then it wasn't because of Lulu or Ling Ling, but...

Chapter 472: Mei Lan's Sorrow

“Sigh...”

In the empty classroom, Mei touched her black framed glasses (no diopter actually) and emitted an irresistible sigh.

Compared to the history class, this class was even more unpopular: Military Logistics.

When other girls of Starwing Knights chose the courses of various sword skills, only she chose this course, which had zero relationships with a swordsman.

Almost all the students here were servants of noble disciples, none of them had even reached the 2nd rank. As a 3rd ranked female swordsman, she was like a crane standing among chickens here. Even the tutor of this lesson tried to persuade her that she didn't need to take this lesson, which of course couldn't help her increase her sword skill.

However, she still chose it.

Because she was the secretary of the Starwing Knights.

She was the person who was in charge of the supplies for the Knights!

Don't compare me with Ling Ling, who has big breasts and has no brains! I'm more important than her!

From examining and verifying new members of the Starwing Knights, to buying clothes and makeup for all girls of the Knights, she was supporting the cause of the Knights.

If Hua Yue, their leader temporarily left, the Starwing Knights could still run; if Xiao Cao, their deputy leader left, the Starwing Knights could still run; as for Ling Ling, that "mascot" of the Knights, she was even more negligible. However, if Mei Lan left even just one day, there would be trouble within the Starwing Knights.

Thinking about it, the Starwing Knights was just an organization casually formed by a group of female swordsmen. It wasn't easy to build the structure and make it actually run.

Regardless of the temporary state on the deserted island. After they returned to the human world, from the moment they stepped onto the boards of Master Casina's floating ship Sands of Time, Mei Lan had started to exert all her strength and wisdom for maintaining the Knights.

Their leader, Hua Yue, was an aristocratic miss of the White Golden Rose family, her appearance, body shape and prestige were all perfect, even Mei Lan admitted that she was the best choice for their leader, at least for now.

Their deputy leader, Xiao Cao, the strongest civilian female swordsman amongst all of them, was the core of the civilian girls' camp.

All girls, no matter whether they were nobles or civilians, all united together under their leadership. It seemed that the Starwing Knights had unlimited potential, but in actuality, there were a lot of problems behind it.

Even the small contradictions between the noble girls' camp and the civilian girls' camp were sufficient to let Mei Lan have no sleep for one or two nights.

The different views of life, the world, and the values amongst the girls had caused a lot of disputes since the day they left the Water God's Fantasy Island.

When they were on the deserted island, they had no choice and had to cooperate with each other. It was the best time of the Starwing Knights.

In order to survive, both noble girls' camp and civilian girls' camp positively resolved conflicts and controlled themselves, and used the ranking battle of bread to set everyone's mind at rest.

During that period, the ranking of girls naturally formed.

Hua Yue and Xiao Cao were in the first level.

Ling Ling and Mei Lan were in the second level.

Then noble girls occupied the most numbers of the top 10 list, after that was the place of civilian girls.

It was a truth that no one could deny, that they all received Mei's black hair, however, there was still a difference between different people. The talents of noble girls were far better than civilian girls.

In some sense, this gap could be filled through hard work, however, another gap was too desperate for most civilian girls.

Even if they cultivated three times harder than the noble girls, the gap was still as wide as an insurmountable natural moat.

"It's a problem... a big problem..." Mei Lan ground the pen-holder in her mouth, looking at the staggering data on the paper.

On the paper, there were 38 names, however, most marks behind the names of civilian girls were:

N cup (normal cup).

N cup.

N cup.

Even N+ cup was as rare as the hair of a phoenix.

Mei Lan herself was just an R cup (rare cup).

As for the marks behind the names of noble girls, they were all:

SR cup (super rare cup).

SR cup.

SR cup.

There were even two “monsters” whose cup sizes were even greater than SR, which even made other noble girls feel jealous.

SSR (superior super rare)!

Mei Lan even specially marked the two names with her golden pen.

The leader of the Starwing Knights: Hua Yue.

The other secretary of the Starwing Knights: Ling Ling.

They were the source of Mei Lan's feeling of pressure, and the two impassable mountains in front of the civilian girls. They could close the gap of strength by cultivating harder, however, even Mei Lan felt desperate in this regard.

Therefore, they created that whimsical plan.

It wasn't just a dream of the Starwing Knights. Most girls who knew that "information" and had that "regret" had dreamed of it.

In contrast to others, the girls of the Starwing Knights really performed the plan. For this, they could do whatever it took.

The medicinal field where Lulu cultivated the Dragon Plants was the first step of the plan.

"A single spark... can start a prairie fire..." Mei Lan started to work out the plan.

For this purpose, she even willingly chose the lesson of Military Logistics, learning the knowledge of running an organization.

It wouldn't work if she only learned the knowledge from the library, she must learn it step by step, from theory to practice.

Today, Mei Lan was also studying hard for the great plan of the Starwing Knights.

She believed that she could become a pillar of the Starwing Knights, making a contribution to the happy future of everyone.

That night, Mei Lan held a lot of books in her arms and left the library with a tired look.

After listening to the lesson today, she had a new idea for the plan, and had a clearer perception of the future of the Starwing Knights.

“Shuffle!” After throwing the books on her desk, Mei Lan wiped her glasses with a piece of smooth cloth. She took out her note pad and started to modify the plan.

“N... N... N... R...” No matter how many times she saw these marks, these marks made Mei Lan feel pain in her heart.

There was a gap between different girls!

“SR... SR... SR... SSR...”

Envy and jealousy echoed in her heart.

Apparently, it was a one-sided war between the civilian girls' camp and the noble girls' camp.

If it wasn't because of the existence of the multi-headed demon dragon, the situation could be much more desperate.

Even though it was as difficult as climbing up to the sky to hunt the cunning demon dragon, at least, it left all females in the universe a glimmer of hope.

Even though the hope was really too slender, it still became the last hope of endless people.

Compared to this, the gap between the strength of the civilian girls' camp and the noble girls' camp was not that important.

"3rd rank... 3rd rank... 3rd rank..."

"3rd rank... 3rd rank... 2nd rank..."

Hua Yue and Xiao Cao were still the strongest when it came to the comparison of strength.

There weren't too many differences among others.

"Of course, everyone has obtained the power of the miracle..." She had recorded the data of all members of the Starwing Knights and drew a table. From the table, it was easy to see the cutting point.

Since that day, everyone's fate went in a different direction.

“Luck... no, it’s a miracle...” Mei Lan didn’t believe that it was due to luck, she preferred to regard it as a miracle.

The person who created the miracle couldn’t be Hua Yue nor Xiao Cao, not to mention that “bimbo” Ling Ling.

“Mei... you are our miracle.”

“No, our god!”

This was the thing no one said but everyone believed.

At first, they only treated it as a tale. Just like mortals would pray to virtual gods, they thought that her beautiful black hair a lucky charm.

No one expected that it would be the start of the miracle.

After obtaining Mei’s black hair, they all noticed the remarkable changes.

Mei Lan was sure that before she obtained Mei’s black hair, she had zero chance to satisfy the entrance requirement of the Sword Palace.

Other people may think that they were just in a super good shape, only Mei Lan knew that it wasn’t the reason.

The sword skill she learned was strict, every movement must be 100% correct.

The advantage of the sword skill was that she could easily find every meager progress for herself. Only after countless practices, could she become stronger. There was no “spurt of progress”.

She couldn't even expect a higher level for herself.

The 2nd rank. She would reach her limit even before reaching the peak of the 2nd rank.

There wasn't a wide world that was waiting for her. No matter how hard she tried, the limit of her sword skill was the 2nd rank. After that, there was no where she could go.

Not everyone had great potentials such as Xiao Cao and Hua Yue. They just needed an opportunity before they put on a spurt.

The hard practice couldn't let her improve. If she practiced too hard, her body would even suffer internal injuries and move backward toward the 1st rank.

It was sad, but it was the reality. It was the abyss Mei Lan once faced and the nightmare countless civilian swordsmen were still facing.

Most people didn't have great talent. Even if they did their best, it wasn't possible for them to reach the 3rd rank. They had no way to reach the world of higher ranks.

However, noble people were facing a different situation. With the support of their family, at least, they could reach the peak of the 2nd rank, then upgraded to the 3rd rank using rare herbs or pills.

Unfortunately, Mei Lan was just a civilian.

She thought that it was already the end of her cultivation, until that day, she met her god.

The black-haired god who presented them with her long black hair.

Hua Yue was the leader and Xiao Cao was the deputy leader, however, she was the only soul of the Starwing Knights.

She was the one everyone loved, and the reason for the existence of the Starwing Knights.

“Mei...” Mei Lan murmured the name with a sweet smile.

“Whoa! Mei Lan! What should I do?” Suddenly, the door of her room was knocked open and Ling Ling ran into her room with a crying look.

“Ling Ling! I told you to knock on the door first before you come in!” Mei Lan was really infuriated.

Why can you be so carefree? You just look cute and have a well-oiled disposition. Miss SSR!

I hate you! You are the final boss of my life!

Ling Ling!

Chapter 473: Jealousy

Before meeting Ling Ling, Mei Lan could not believe that such a favored woman really existed in the world.

Mei Lan didn't see Ling Ling spending too much time on practicing her sword skills. She spent more time enjoying delicious food than practicing, but her sword skill was still among the top three of the Starwing Knights.

She wasn't smart at all, but she could be another secretary trusted by Hua Yue. Even "learn not and know not" was too light to describe her. She was just a complete idiot!

All the nutrients she ate must have all concentrated in her enviable breasts.

What is a natural winner? That's a natural winner!

But this kind of brainless fool was still loved by almost all girls of the Starwing Knights. Was there any reason for that? Mei Lan could hardly understand it!

"What should you do? Did you have some sort of trouble?" The more she looked at this SSR, cough, Ling Ling, the more Mei Lan felt that life was unfair.

Although she didn't like this "mascot" of the Starwing Knights, she had to be patient to solve problems for her, which was her duty as the secretary of the Starwing Knights.

All kinds of work, as long as it was about the Starwing Knights, she had to keep her hands on it. For this reason, she even took the initiative to undertake many tasks that could easily be assigned to others.

Originally, it should be the housekeeper sent by Hua Yue's family to manage the Starwing Knights, whose management level was undoubtedly professional, but Mei Lan was reluctant to let others interfere in the affairs of the Starwing Knights.

The affairs of the Starwing Knights must be solved by the members of the Starwing Knights!

Maybe it was a kind of obsessive-compulsive disorder. Mei Lan knew that her desire for control was too strong, but she wanted all these things to be done perfectly.

Her love for the Starwing Knights was so deep that she even had a spirit of dedication.

So even though she didn't like Ling Ling and even felt that she was her natural enemy, she would still help Ling Ling without hesitation if Ling Ling was in trouble.

As the Secretary of the Starwing Knights but not just the "mascot" of the Knights, she must have such a sense of mission and responsibility.

However, according to Mei Lan's understanding of Ling Ling, her so-called troubles were basically that she put too many peppers in noodles in the morning, or too few peppers in the noodles, or should she also put sugar or salt into the noodles.

With her poor brain capacity, she couldn't have more worries.

"Whoop, whoa... Mei Lan... Mei Lan... I'm not able to get married anymore!" Contrary to Mei Lan's indifference, Ling Ling's enthusiasm and heartlessness were inherent.

Now she met the greatest trouble in her life, so she came directly to Mei Lan, who was also a secretary.

"Can't get married? What do you mean?" Mei Lan thought that Ling Ling had finally learned some new tricks. She speculated about the possible reasons.

Is it because her cooking was so terrible that no one wanted to eat her food, so she stealthily switched out other people's foods and caused large-scale food poisoning?

Or did she accidentally add unknown herbs to the pot and cause an unknown explosion?

Or did her nasty breasts inadvertently seduce an ill-disposed noble disciple which led to massive bloodshed?

Whatever they were, they were all the things that were possibly caused by Ling Ling. After all, she was too clumsy and unsuspecting, which would naturally get herself into trouble.

Had she not been born into a noble family, she would have been abducted countless times. Mei Lan even thought that only a piece of golden butter bread could lure her in and let someone kidnap her.

“I... I... I was kissed by Mei...”

“Mei... Mei... Mei...” Ling Ling looked at her close friend with tears in her eyes and told her that unprecedented, shocking news.

“What!” Mei Lan took three steps back in succession, looking at Ling Ling with shock in her eyes. She looked at Ling Ling from her head to her feet, and then paying special attention to her full breasts, stammering, “Mei? You mean Mei?”

“Yes, Mei is strange today. Suddenly, she grabbed my hand and took me to the medicinal field. Then, she...” Ling Ling’s face suddenly turned red and covered her red face with her hands.

“Whoa... I can’t get married, I can’t get married anymore!”

“Tell me in detail what happened!” Mei Lan felt like a thunderbolt exploded in front of her.

Her heart was roaring, roaring!

Why? Why? Why is it always Ling Ling?

Humph! She just has a pair of full breasts but has no brains. Why could she always keep a step ahead in all things?!

“That... That... That’s...” Ling Ling’s face was as red as a ripe apple. She quietly approached Mei Lan’s ear and murmured, telling her the whole thing.

“Oh my god!” Mei Lan had to cover her mouth to keep her composure.

It wasn’t just kissing, they had done more than that!

They even, they even... Mei Lan couldn’t help but stare at Ling Ling’s full breasts with a fierce look.

Was it all because of this pair of breasts? Damn it!

SSR! It’s terrible. It’s terrible!

Even Mei, who is so quiet and steady, has been hurt by this weapon too?!

She didn’t believe that Mei would do “that” to this “brainless mascot” for no reason at all!

Sure enough, the crux of everything was that pair of “weapons”. Not only men but also women would feel jealousy of that pair of “weapons” which was representing the wonderful future of life and the source of breeding hope.

“Mei Lan... What should I do?” Ling Ling looked at her closest friend with tears in her eyes. In her eyes, Mei Lan was always the good secretary of the Starwing Knights, who could always help her solve her troubles neatly.

“Never mind... You like Mei, don’t you?” Mei Lan took a deep breath and restrained her impulses to beat Ling Ling even more senseless, who took her undeserved gain for granted.

Why are the differences between people so great?

She knew how many members of the Starwing Knights would feel raging jealousy for what happened to Ling Ling.

Mei Lan was sure that “to be intimate” with Mei was a dream that every member of the Starwing Knights had ever had, because Mei Lan herself was one of them.

She didn’t remember how many nights, she was tightly embracing the black hair charm and immersed herself in the girl’s fantasy world.

Ling Ling, I’ll make sure again that you are my enemy!

You lucky, damn SSR!

Chapter 474: Reach Ou

“I... I like Mei, but I also want to get married...”

Compared to Mei Lan, Ling Ling looked more like the one with common sense.

“Huh? Who are you going to marry?” Mei Lan looked at Ling Ling with a look of “Is your head broken?”

Isn't the Starwing Knights the guardian of Mei, and everyone has regarded "Protecting Mei" as their lifetime mission?

Why do you still have the illusion of getting married someday, Ling Ling? Isn't that strange?

Sure enough, that's the case with big breasts and no brains.

"Don't be afraid... It's a very, very happy thing that Mei likes you." Mei Lan stretched out her chest, and then instantly found the gap between herself and Ling Ling, showing a very depressed expression on her face.

Why is there such a monster like SSR in this world? Isn't everyone's N cup very good? That would be a peaceful world.

"Um... But in that case, I can only marry Mei..." Ling Ling lay in Mei Lan's arms with a tangled expression on her face.

"Idiot..." Mei Lan muttered. If she had such a happy annoyance, she did not know how happy she would be.

"So... Just in case, I'll confirm it with you." Mei Lan still can't believe that Mei would do that to Ling Ling.

That was the perfect incarnation in the minds of all the girls of the Starwing Knights, Mei! If she was a man, she would be a perfect gentleman.

Something must have gone wrong. Did Ling Ling make a mistake on her own impulse and kiss Mei forcibly, then subconsciously mistook it?

Compared with the possibility that Mei forcibly kissed Ling Ling, Mei Lan felt that this probability was higher.

After all, a fool like Ling Ling could do anything and never think that she was wrong.

There was no doubt that Ling Ling, the favored mascot of the Starwing Knights was a big, brainless, silly fool!

“Um... Now Mei is a little weird. Mei Lan, you have to be careful...” Ling Ling grasped Mei Lan’s hand with some fear. Today, Mei bullied her so much that she was still worried now!

“Never mind, I’m here, absolutely no problem.” Mei Lan shrugged her shoulders in disapproval and held Ling Ling’s hand.

Compared to Ling Ling who always looked for trouble, she believed in Mei, who was more quiet and elegant.

Even if today’s Mei was really weird, then... Maybe it isn’t a bad thing, right?

In Yun Xi’s room, Mei lay on the bed with an ungraceful gesture, staring at the ceiling.

She couldn't sleep... she was completely sleepless.

The reason was simple, because she was not used to sleeping alone.

The three sisters, Star Thunder, Star Fire, and Star Snow always slept together from birth. No matter when it was, they all moved together and slept together.

Now, she was alone. Although she was on the familiar bed, usually this time, she was taking care of her sisters until they were asleep before she closed her eyes.

A person's habits couldn't be changed in a day or two, moreover, it was an inherent habit since her birth.

"..." She habitually stretched out her hands, but no one was around her, which made Mei (Star Thunder) feel unhappy.

I can't sleep, I can't sleep! I still have to wait for one more night before Star Fire takes control of Master's body. What should I do?

For Mei (Star Thunder) who first slept alone, this was a huge trouble.

"Dong! Dong!" Outside the room, there was a gentle knock on the door. From the breathing rhythm, it should be a person Mei was familiar with.

“...” She got up a little happier, and then opened the door and saw Ling Ling, as well as a slightly strange figure.

“Well... Good night, Mei. There’s something Ling Ling wants to say to you.” Mei Lan looked at Mei. She was so nervous that she could hardly speak.

Mei is special.

Mei is the core of the Starwing Knights.

She is everybody’s god.

There was no one in the Starwing Knights didn’t that like Mei. Mei gave the miracle to them.

Compared to Ling Ling who was silly and didn’t even know what this miracle represented. she knew how much she has benefited from it.

The ultimate gratitude was unable to express in words, eventually turned into a kind of unswerving faith.

Mei, for her, was such an important and unique person.

“Mei... Today... Today...” Compared to Mei Lan’s restraint, Ling Ling is more straightforward. After Mei Lan’s explanation, she finally understood.

I really can’t get married now!

It was better to say that apart from marrying Mei, she had no way to choose.

“...” Looking at Ling Ling and Mei Lan, suddenly, Mei’s eyes brightened up.

Sleepless... Because I’m not sleeping together with my sisters.

Sisters are now in the body of our master and cannot come out.

In front of me, there are Ling Ling and Mei Lan.

Since I can’t sleep, I should go and find a way to get myself to sleep.

The answer is right in front of me!

Without a second thought, Mei (Star Thunder) reached out her left hand, trying to grab Mei Lan’s little hand.

“Gee!” Mei Lan looked so flattered as if she was a pure virgin who was just chosen by the emperor.

Her right hand stretched out, originally was trying to grasp Ling Ling's hand, but in the middle of the way, it grabbed another place by mistake.

"Ah-hoo..." Ling Ling looked at the hand that grabbed her breasts with a look of protest, but there was no real struggle. Rather, she moved closer to Mei and let her breasts change into various shapes in Mei's small hands.

"..." Mei gently led the two to her bed.

"This... this..." Ling Ling blushed and looked almost drunk.

"I... I'm not ready yet!" Mei Lan stuttered and tightened all over.

Had she known this earlier, she would most definitely have changed into her best clothes, showing her most beautiful side in front of Mei.

Ling Ling didn't lie this time. Today's Mei was a bit weird, as if the sense of distance in the past was suddenly and completely eliminated all at once.

However, she didn't hate this weird Mei at all.

Or rather to say, she wanted to thank God!

Chapter 475: Obsession

"Shuffle!" Mei easily guided the two secretaries of the Starwing Knights to her broad bed.

This big bed had been specially modified by Mei'er. It was big enough for four girls to lie on it together, and it was a little exaggerated for Mei's figure. Usually, even with Star Thunder, Star Fire and Star Snow on the bed, it was still too large.

Now, it seemed that Mei'er had a pretty good forward-looking thought because at this moment, there were "three" beautiful girls on the bed.

On the far left was a black-haired maid.

In the middle was a beautiful secretary who wore a pair of black-framed glasses, with a stupefied look on her face.

On the right was Miss Mascot whose face was red and the mountains on her chest were heaving alarmingly.

It was a too beautiful scene of three beautiful girls laying on the same bed.

However, distinct from this harmonious scene, the psychological activities of the three people were quite different.

Well, the hand feel is good!

She's good, and she's good too. Sure enough, it's better to sleep with others. That was Mei's idea (Star Thunder's idea).

What should I do? What should I do? What should I do?

I mustn't run away! I mustn't run away! I mustn't run away!

It's time for a decisive battle, and if I run away, I'll regret it all my life. That was Mei Lan's idea.

Whoa, today's Mei is really strange!

I'm caught again, my chest felt strange and hot, as if my body doesn't belong to myself.

This is the heart voice of Ling Ling, who unfortunately fell into the hands of Mei again.

"..." According to her habit of taking care of her sisters, Mei constantly adjusted Mei Lan and Ling Ling's positions, playing with their bodies.

To Star Thunder, the big sister of the three sisters, it was a natural thing to take care of her sisters sleeping beside her.

To Mei Lan and Ling Ling, it was a major issue of life to be played with by Mei.

"Ling Ling... I wronged you..." Very rare, Mei Lan, the secretary of the Starwing Knights, the person who always thought that Ling Ling was too stupid, apologized to Ling Ling.

Mei is not just strange today. She is behaving very, very weird!

The Mei she knew wouldn't have such physical intimacy easily. Let alone sleeping in the same bed, she didn't even take a bath together with any other girls!

What's going on now?

Did Ling Ling accidentally give Mei something strange? Considering Ling Ling's silly head, the possibility was very great!

"Ooo... ooo... I told you... Mei is strange today..."

"Now, we are both not going to get married!" Looking at Mei taking off her clothes skillfully, Ling Ling looked at Mei Lan with tears in her eyes, showing a look of looking for help.

"..." Mei smiled and gently pressed her hand on Ling Ling's chest, stretching out her little tongue just like what she did in the daytime, licking the snow-white peaks.

Soon afterward, an attractive fragrance spread around in the room, and Ling Ling had almost buried her head in the pillow.

Why? Why did it happen? I haven't got married yet, why, why is there such a thing in my breasts?

“Whoa... This is...” Mei Lan also saw the secret of Ling Ling. She was so surprised that she could hardly close her mouth.

She was 100% sure that Ling Ling, like herself and other members of the Starwing Knights, was a pure virgin.

But how could any adolescence girl in this world have so much delicious snow-white milk in her body?!

Is it because of her physique? Is it because of the difference of physique?

Is it because of the intimacy with Mei, her breasts naturally secreted this milk?!

“Don’t look at me! Don’t look at me! I can’t get married, I can’t get married at all!” In Mei’s room, the wailing voice of a young girl echoed.

After having absorbed the nutrients supplied from Ling Ling’s breasts, Mei raised her head satisfactorily. She soothed Ling Ling who was in a convulsion and sobbing, giving her a passionate kiss.

Well, as the big sister of the three sisters, it wasn’t strange at all, was it?

Not only that, but she also had the habit of licking her sisters’ bodies from top to bottom before going to bed, which was her duty in place of her mother.

“Whoa! Mei bullied me again!”

“Mei Lan, help me!”

Ling Ling raised her arms in surrender. She gasped and her clothes were ragged, just like what she looked like in the secret garden of the Starwing Knights during the day.

Unfortunately, instead of extending a helping hand, Mei Lan’s face turned red with envy.

Seemingly Mei noticed Mei Lan’s expectant look, she smiled and helped her take off her glasses, then stretched out her tongue and gently licked the corners of her eyes.

“I... can die now without anything to regret!” Mei Lan looked more weak and helpless than usual after her glasses were removed. She didn’t look like the strong woman she always showed in front of everyone at all.

Her clear big black eyes, scattered braids, slender hands and legs, making her look like an orchid in the valley with an unspeakable glamour.

Especially her cute and shy appearance, it was hard to believe that she was the secretary of the Starwing Knights, Mei Lan, who always looked strong in the eyes of the public.

In the final analysis, the so-called “temperament” was just a disguise for gaining advantages. In front of her god, the person she loved, Mei Lan was just an ordinary girl when her glasses were taken off from her eyes.

In front of Mei, and they were on the same bed together, she could no longer hide her feelings in the deepest side of her heart, falling into Mei's arms.

Closing her eyes, she felt the warm touch on her cheeks, as if she had come to heaven.

No, it's not just "as if", this is heaven! The world of bliss!

Thank God, thank the Starwing Knights, thank Ling Ling!

It's really a good thing to have taken part in the entrance exam of the Sword Palace at that time!

"..." Mei looked at Mei Lan and smiled.

Naughty Ling Ling, and shy Mei Lan, they looked really like her two sisters.

Moreover, master's body seems to be very, very accustomed to such intimate movements, coupled with the fact that she is already used to spoiling her sisters before going to bed, isn't the whole thing naturally going to develop at this point?

So, let us be more intimate!

Chapter 476: The Invitation From the Roses (1)

"..." Mei opened her eyes and looked around with curiosity, looking at the world which was totally different from what she had seen in the past.

Today was the day Star Fire replaced her sister, Star Thunder. She was responsible for controlling her master's body today.

"..." She scratched her cheeks with her hands, which still made her feel unaccustomed. Mei (Star Fire) looked at the two girls around her, licking her lips involuntarily.

Well, according to the memory she inherited from her sister last night, if she was hungry, she could demand sweet milk from one of the girls.

"Ah ho!" Ling Ling who was being raided by Mei restlessly covered her full breasts with her arms, but still couldn't avoid the destined result, contributing her sweet milk.

"Damn!" Looking at this scene, Mei Lan suffered a heavy blow. She strengthened her resolve of accomplishing the biggest dream of most girls of the Starwing Knights.

SSR! SSR! SSR!

After enjoying the sweet milk, Mei happily pushed open the door and looked around with her innocent, curious eyes.

Everything around her was fresh to her.

Exquisite wooden furniture, chandeliers, evergreen plants, and oil paintings from great artists. Everyone had to admit that the girls' dorm of the Sword Palace was a topmost dorm, and the rooms of the girls of the Starwing Knights were even better.

Of course, it was because of Hua Yue. These Western-style furniture and oil paintings weren't that easy to be bought with money. It showed the true strength of a noble family, not what a parvenu could learn by imitating.

"..." Compared to her mature and steady elder sister, Star Thunder, Star Fire's character was more cheerful and carefree. She was interested in everything, touching here and there from time to time. If it wasn't because she was using Mei's body, Maybe she had left a lot of paw prints on the corridor.

Until she heard the figures of others, her behavior was finally somewhat restrained.

In front of the public, you must never expose your habit of being a dog! Smile! Keep your smile! This was what her big sister, Star Thunder urged to her again and again.

"..." Sitting in front of the table, Mei looked at the dazzling breakfast in front of her eyes. She could not help but sniff.

After enjoying Ling Ling's milk, her stomach became hungrier.

What will my sister do at this time?

Based on the moves in her memory, Mei (Star Fire) tried to pick up a piece of cake with a knife and put it into her mouth.

"..." The next moment, her eyes brightened up.

It's delicious. It's delicious!

It is actually such a wonderful thing to enjoy food in the form of a human!

"Whoa! I will be undernourished." After a while, Ling Ling came. She bit a piece of fresh papaya and looked at Mei with a complaining look.

Since yesterday, she had been asked by Mei for all kinds of things. She didn't know if it was her imagination, but now, she felt that her chest was hot, as if she would secrete some "substances" that a girl should never have secreted.

"Eat more, Ling Ling... strange... Are your breasts a little bigger?" Mei Lan looked at Ling Ling with a look of jealousy and she swore that it was definitely not her imagination. Ling Ling's breasts indeed had become bigger!

"Really?"

"Maybe they were rubbed too much, so they become a bit bigger." Ling Ling looked at her breasts in confusion. She did feel that her breasts were somewhat uncomfortable, as if her body was developing rapidly.

"I heard... that... when you are a mother, they will really become bigger..." Mei Lan bit a piece of bread with a fierce look, crunching the golden, soft bread with her scallop like teeth.

Oh, my God, they are already so big, and they are still growing? Why is the world so unfair?

“But... I haven’t got married... Ooo...” Ling Ling held her breasts in her hands with tears in her eyes. She looked really sad.

No! I have to endure it!

Enduring for a while, you shall appease the dispute; retreating a step, you will get a broadened mind!

Isn’t Ling Ling showing off herself? Isn’t she?

Mei Lan was forced to restrain her strong impulse to roar.

Your troubles are the ultimate fantasy of most of the girls of the Starwing Knights, okay?

You don’t know what you have, Miss SSR!

Other members of the Starwing Knights listened to the conversation between the two secretaries with a confused look.

“Wait, what happened? What does she mean ‘undernourished’? Doesn’t Ling Ling look pretty good now?”

“Wait a minute. What happened last night?”

“Rub? Rubbed by who?”

Don't underestimate the private intelligence network between girls. Someone soon broke the news.

“I saw it... In the morning.” A girl who got up early this morning raised her hand with a nervous look.

“What do you see?”

“Tell me! Tell me! Tell me!”

The girls' intuition was very sharp and sensitive, from the abnormal atmosphere between Ling Ling and Mei Lan, they all vaguely felt something.

Especially from their blushed faces and the truth that they were sitting beside Mei, it was quite noticeable.

“Mei Lan and Ling Ling... this morning... they came out from Mei's room...” said the girl who witnessed this and her face turned red.

She saw Ling Ling and Mei Lan running out from Mei's room with their clothes in disarray.

They didn't even wear shoes. Especially Ling Ling, on her disheveled clothes, there was even strange traces of white liquid, and she even smelt a vaguely sweet smell of milk.

What happened last night in Mei's room?

This wasn't just her question, but also the question all girls of the Starwing Knights wanted to know.

"Oh gosh, Have Ling Ling and Mei Lan had done something to Mei?"

"Regardless of Ling Ling, why did Mei Lan also get in on this? She isn't such a person!"

"The two stayed a whole night with Mei?"

"Rubbed too much?"

Combined with various clues, countless "not for children" scenarios appeared in these adolescence girls' minds. A lot of girls blushed when they imagined them.

Mei was enjoying her breakfast. She sensed their eyes on them and put into practice what she learned from her sister, giving them a big bright smile.

Smiling! Smiling!

"Ya ho!"

“Oh gosh!”

These girls looked at Mei’s smile and emitted cute sounds from their mouths.

The Starwing Knights and the atmosphere was still full the smell of fragrant flowers today.

Chapter 477: The Invitation From the Roses 2

In the morning.

In the mist, Mei was walking along the path surrounded by green trees.

Just like her sister, Mei (Star Fire) also didn’t know why she came to this place, as if it was a natural habit of the body itself.

Pushing aside the bushes around the path and walking into the mist, Mei finally came to a medicinal field where there were cultivated a lot of pink plants.

It was the secret garden of the Starwing Knights.

However, it wasn’t Lulu in the medicinal field this time but a golden hair female knight whose body basked in the sun.

“Mei.” Hua Yue smiled and smiled like a princess.

She stretched out her hand to Mei.

She wouldn't make the same mistake again.

Since she had confirmed that Mei was in a strange state now, it would become the best opportunity.

Lulu and Ling Ling, the things happened before were all under her monitor.

About the news in the girls' dorm this morning, she also received the report from other noble girls of the Starwing Knights, this was her privilege as the leader.

Because everything was too fast, she even felt a bit flat-footed.

Her mind wasn't as simple as Ling Ling, so she wouldn't move without a thought; neither was she as apprehensive as Mei Lan, who thought too much which conversely made her lose the chance.

As the princess of Hua family, the leader of the Starwing Knights, her individual talent and leadership ability were both the number one amongst all girls.

She obtained it through her personal charm.

Starting from the most trivial things, she never relaxed her vigilance and always played her role well.

No matter who she faced, she could always switch her two relationships with others.

One was her relationship as a friend of the girls of the Starwing Knights.

The other one was her relationship as the leader of the girls of the Starwing Knights.

She could stroll around the streets together with noble girls, talking about the latest trends of the endless god's domains.

She could also practice her sword together with civilian girls, pointing out their shortcomings in the meantime.

Compared to Xiao Cao who was too devoted to her limit practice, which made her rare to appear in front of the public recently, her leadership was the biggest reason that she was voted by everyone.

Maybe someday, Xiao Cao's sword skill would surpass her sword skill, becoming the strongest in the Starwing Knights. After all, she was the hardest working female swordsman that was recognized by everyone.

Even so, as the princess of the Hua family, she was more suitable to be the leader.

Her White Golden Rose Bloodline didn't stand for the strongest bloodline of fighting alone, on the contrary, it was a bloodline of leadership, the royal bloodline that could unite 100% of the power of the team she was leading.

Her sword skill was from Shin'Ra, a holy crossed sword created by her legend ranked ancestor, a glorious White Golden Rose Knight.

It was a sword of holy light, which wasn't the strongest, but stood for glory and hope that could bring victory.

The old bloodline granted her a strong personality and the will of pride, and her sword combined the two advantages of defense and attack, was the most stabilized crossed sword skill.

Her pursuit was to be a perfect knight.

She clearly understood the meanings of humility, integrity, compassion, bravery, justice, sacrifice, honor, and soul!

Just like the knight's creed, she made the oath to her sword.

"I will be kind to the weak!"

"I will be brave against the strong!"

"I will fight all who do wrong!"

“I will fight for those who cannot fight!”

“I will help those who call me for help!”

“I will harm no woman!”

“I will help my brother!” ”

I will be true to my friends!”

“I will be faithful in love!” ”

The knight’s creed was what Hua Yue vowed to conform to in her life.

Because of the eight virtues of the knight, although she knew what happened here before, she wouldn’t let anyone know.

Not only so, but she would also help them keep this secret because this was her duty as their leader.

However, just slightly, when Mei is in this special mood, I can be more intimate with her. Can’t I?

I will only do this one time, and never have a next time! The princess of the Hua family won't take advantage of others' difficulties, therefore, this is just a simple date!

Hua Yue convinced herself in her heart.

"..." Mei (Star Fire) blinked her eyes. She didn't know what she should do at this time.

Hum, according to the memory left by my sister, I should do nothing and my master's body would react naturally.

Yes, this is it! Just let master's body move following its instinct!

"Patter! Patter!" Mei (Star Fire) naturally walked to Hua Yue and stretched out her hand.

Good morning... oh!" Hua Yue was going to hold Mei's hands, beyond her expectation, Mei's hand directly bypassed her hand and put it on her full breasts.

Pinching. Pinching.

"Mei!" Hua Yue's face instantly turned red. Her hand grasped Mei's hand.

"As a lady, it's not good to do this!"

“...” Mei (Star Fire) innocently looked at Hua Yue, whose body shivered with both a funny and annoyed look on her face.

Did I do something wrong?

Isn't this the place that master's body will do “this thing and that thing” with the girls he likes?

Chapter 478: Cut Class

Now, Hua Yue confirmed that Mei had become different after practicing the “Closed Mouth Zen”.

Her point of view was different from Mei Lan.

As a civilian girl who was born in a common family, Mei Lan had natural disbelief of others.

Even though she was a member of the Starwing Knights and she loved the Knights, as the secretary, she cared about details too much.

She wanted to control everything in her hands, including the accounts and logistics of the Starwing Knights, and even all information of every girl.

Hua Yue was different. As the leader, what she paid attention to was in a higher level.

Of course, a healthy organization needed members like Mei Lan, who was willing to devote herself into it; and a mascot like Ling Ling was also demanded. She was the leader, her duty was to make the best use of their talents.

Therefore, compared to Mei Lan who focused on the financial expenditure of the Starwing Knights, Hua Yue paid more attention to the interpersonal relationships between different girls, especially when it was related to Mei.

Mei was the core of the Starwing Knights, the Knights was formed for her.

Why did this newly formed organization have such a high cohesive affinity?

In the few days after they arrived at the Sword Palace, a lot of forces had made various commitments to almost all members of the Starwing Knights. They didn't even hide their intention of undermining the foundation of the Knights.

However, no matter what the force was, including the forces even Hua Yue felt difficult to deal with, none of them had succeeded.

None of the girls chose to leave.

Even though they knew several forces were supported by legend ranked people, these forces were far stronger than the Knights, a girls' organization was like "playing house" in the eyes of a lot of people.

There was only one reason that could explain it.

Because Mei was here. If Mei chose to leave the Sword Palace, none of the girls of the Starwing Knights wouldn't follow her footsteps.

Since when had they become so intimate with Mei and regarded the black-haired maid as their god?

As if there was an invisible thread that was connecting all the girls of the Knights together.

And the thread was becoming more and more sturdy as time went by.

At first, Mei was just an unknown girl whose appearance fitted the profile of the tales of the black-haired girl, which made them nerve themselves to ask for a strand of hair from her.

Now, the lucky charm made of Mei's black hair had become the holy badge of the Starwing Knights, only the people who had the lucky charm was allowed to join the Starwing Knights.

"Mei... is it hard to practice the 'Closed Mouth Zen'?" Looking at Mei's innocent face, Hua Yue made a guess in her heart.

Secret skills like "Closed Mouth Zen", as far as she knew, they needed the practicers to undermine their five senses to strengthen their mentalities. Once a person started to practice the secret skill, the person couldn't give up halfway, otherwise, the person may go mad.

When practicing the secret skill, various temptations would naturally appear, and once the practicer failed to resist the temptation, something terrible would happen. In a word, even to dervishes, it was one of the most difficult limit practices.

"..." Mei (Star Fire) looked at Hua Yue's hand with curiosity, she naturally stretched out her tongue and licked her hand.

Her small tongue touched Hua Yue's tender skin. Although she had seen this in the videos the holy beetle recorded, when it really happened to her, Hua Yue still couldn't help but emit a light groan.

The current Mei is too cute!

No wonder that Lulu, Ling Ling, and Mei Lan couldn't withstand this kind of intimacy.

Even her, when she looked at the puppy like Mei, she had zero resistance against her behavior.

If it wasn't because her senses warned her that if this went further, she would recommit the same mistake like Lulu, Ling Ling, and Mei Lan, she would be immersed in this sweet trap and fall into Mei's arms.

No! I'm the leader of the Starwing Knights! I can't do this when Mei is in this special state!

"Mei... let's cut class today!" After thinking for a while, Hua Yue asked in a calm tone.

Yes, how can I waste this valuable time, making the same mistake like Lulu, Ling Ling, and Mei Lan...

Since the opportunity appeared, I must carefully plan it and use it in a more effective manner. It's a rare, wonderful time that I can ask for anything from Mei and won't be afraid of being refused.

The time for love is valuable to girls!

“...” Mei (Star Fire) smiled and naturally moved closer to Hua Yue. The body instinctively found her mouth and kissed her on her lips.

There was a kind of sweet, soft, pleasant smell.

Star Fire thought that she had slightly understood why master and my sister likes this smell.

“Oh... ah... Mei... do you agree?” Immersing herself in Mei’s deep kiss, Hua Yue smiled.

Everything is under my control.

Chapter 479: The Princess Who Climbs Over the Wall

Cutting Class was a rare thing in the Sword Palace, because in non-holiday times, the formal disciples were rarely allowed let out of the Sword Palace.

All of the formal disciples were the best geniuses in their homeland.

Arguably, the disciples who could come into the White Lotus Sword Palace were already destined to be the people above people. It was hard to imagine that these elites would cut class.

Moreover, it was next to impossible to avoid the protection magic ward of the Sword Palace.

However, Hua Yue still successfully achieved it.

Compared to Mei Lan who followed the rules like a book, “learning how to use rules and form her own rules” was also a privilege of superordinate people.

Moreover, none of the eight virtues of a knight said that she couldn’t cut class.

Hua Yue smiled, looking at Mei who was climbing over the wall together with her. If other people saw that the elegant leader of the Starwing Knights was climbing over the wall, they would be Petrified.

Why did she know the method of how to pass through the protection magic ward of the Sword Palace, which was called the Absolute Shield? It was because of an accident.

Her holy beetle accidentally saw Mei’s secret, the secret that she could freely go out of and into the Sword Palace.

Of course, as the leader of the Starwing Knights, she would also keep this secret of Mei’s in her heart.

A secret was naturally a valuable resource. Compared to Mei Lan’s behavior of controlling all of the details, Hua Yue’s method was softer and more effective.

It was a knowledge that civilians could never learn from books.

Hua Yue just didn’t expect that she would use this secret now.

The Shield of the Sword Palace, which was said that could block the attack of the legend rank, naturally exposed a big hole in front of them, letting them walk out of the secret garden with ease.

“Pang! Pang!” Even Hua Yue, when she passed through the Protection Shield which was said to be connected with the defence system of the Sky Tower, her heart couldn’t stop from pounding fast.

Because rules can’t be broken, the feeling was so addictive when trying to break it.

The more she complied with the rules, the more pleasure she would feel at this moment.

In order to have a date with Mei, she had violated 13 rules of the Sword Palace, which was sufficient to force her to drop out of the Sword Palace.

Because of Mei, she had the confidence to challenge these rules, and she believed that what she did could be forgiven.

Because Mei was special.

No, it wasn’t just a delusion of the girls of the Starwing Knights, because Mei was really unique.

In the eyes of the public, they would be shocked by Hua Huo’s strong power she showed, and the strong potential of the Starwing Knights, however, only very few people realized that Mei, was the most special one.

Only when looking at Mei, the invincible Hua Huo’s face would turn red.

The entire Starwing Knights was formed for Mei.

If Hua Huo was the golden sun in the sky, then Mei was the stars in the night sky. She wasn't as bright as the sun, however, only the people who really knew what the Star River was would understand how great she was.

Standing in the corner of the wall outside of the Sword Palace, Hua Yue held Mei's hand and walked casually in the Protection Shield.

As the Sword Palace that once cultivated a Sky Sword, the defence system of the White Lotus Sword Palace was far stronger than other lower-level sword domains. It not only had the Sky Tower that shouldn't be owned by a lower-level sword domain, but also was protected by a legend ranked shield.

However, the shield that was said that could block legend ranked attacks, totally turned a blind eye to Mei and Hua Yue, letting them walk inside it freely.

After a while, they walked out of the legend ranked Protection Shield. Even though she had confirmed it a long time ago, Hua Yue still felt as if she was dreaming after experiencing it personally.

"Mei... you... who are you?"

"Where are you from, and where are you going?"

"Will you suddenly disappear someday and go to a place we don't know?"

“How many secrets do you have?”

Hua Yue asked with curiosity and pinched Mei’s face.

The longer she stayed with Mei, the more secrets of Mei she would find, and the more charm she would feel from Mei.

Hua Yue felt that she was a little bug trapped by sweet honey, and the more sweet honey she tasted, the deeper she would be trapped into it.

“...” Looking at Hua Yue’s scorching eyes, Mei (Star Fire) smiled and moved close to her, trying to kiss her again.

“Ah... no... not this place...” Hua Yue emitted a cute sound but didn’t really resist Mei’s lips.

Since I want to date Mei, naturally, I need to pay a price, it was a basic rule in all god’s domains.

In a basement not far away from the Sword Palace, a pair of bloody eyes suddenly opened wide.

“I smell it!”

“It’s my dream lover’s smell!”

“I must be with her. She came out from that place!”

“Roar!”

“Baa!” A snow white paw heavily knocked on the head of the estrous big black dog. Now the black dog looked very pitiful. Its four limbs still hadn’t grown out, looking like a black preserved pork hanging in the air.

“What?!”

“Why do I have this appearance?”

“Who am I? And where am I?”

The black demon dog emitted an ear-piercing roar after finding that it was no different from being disabled, which annoyed the evil god who was repairing its body and give it a hit on this idiot’s body.

“Oh! No! No! Don’t hit that place...” The black demon dog instantly cried like a castrated dog. Its body curled up.

“Baa!” The evil god knocked on the black demon dog’s head and prompted it to look around.

Chapter 480: The Demon Dog’s Roar

In the gloomy basement, a snow-white sheep-like creature looked at a big black dog-like creature that was hung in the air. This evil scene looked weird and unreal. Adding the blood magic circle of sacrifice on the ground, it was full of a creepy sense.

“Hoy... hoy...” Qumran, the prince of black demon dogs, the descendant of Cerberus, looked at its mutilated body and puffed heavily.

The nightmare scenes flashed through its mind.

After accepting the light of wisdom from the White Lotus Secret Treasure, it met its first love soon after. It should've been a remarkable day, but because of that damn maid, it was killed and sliced into pieces.

Its heart was pierced through by a sharp sword, and at the end of its mind, something dragged it into the deep underground world.

It was even deeper than hell and as endless as the abyss. A snow white sheep foot stepped onto its body, it saw an evil eye.

It was revived, then died quickly. Its body was twisted by some great power, recovered, broke again, and recovered again. The pain was even a hundred times crueler than death itself.

“I... revived!”

“I! Qumran! I'm back!” The black demon dog didn't know how to learn from its pain. Its mind had just recovered and it immediately barked frantically.

“Baa!” The feet of a snow-white sheep trampled on Qumran's body again, forcibly letting it howl into its mouth.

“Hiss!” Qumran gasped. Its two forepaws instantly recovered and it jumped to its feet.

The wounds all over its body incredibly disappeared at this moment!

Its body was covered by a deep, dark black mist, there was no trace that it was killed by the black-haired maid.

Not only that, but the newborn body was also stronger and more powerful than its old body. Even the most feeble joints of its bones were covered by thick bone shells, which had become far harder than steel. It was the sign of the third stage of the black demon dog’s evolution.

From the beginning, the black demon dog was invented as a kind of war machine. Once it reached the third stage, it could turn into a super unit on the battlefield, massacring the armies of its enemy. In this form, its combat power was far stronger than common hero ranked demons.

The Third Stage Black Demon Dog, this was the title of the black demon dogs in this stage. Starting from this stage, the black demon dogs would evolve into different forms based on the enemies they swallowed.

Bloodthirsty Black Demon Dog, whose characteristics were to attack and bite its enemies frantically.

Steel Black Demon Dog, whose body was as strong as steel.

Wisdom Black Demon Dog, who had a smart head and was good at commanding other demons.

In the first and second stage, black demon dogs were just a kind of cannon fodder that were used to consume the power of the enemy, the Third Stage Black Demon Dogs were really the elites of the demon army. In the war against demons, countless hero ranked people died under the paws of them.

As the prince of the Black Demon Dogs, Qumran's bloodline was perfect.

Its body had all the advantages of other black demon dogs: its teeth were sharper than Bloodthirsty Black Demon Dog, its defense was stronger than Steel Black Demon Dog, and its wisdom was much higher than any Wisdom Black Demon Dogs.

"It's time for hunting!" Climbing up from the ground, Qumran looked at its new body and howled. It was going to go looking for its dream lover again.

"Baa!" Again, the evil god trampled on its body with an unpleasant bleat.

"Master Evil God said that you are looking for death if you just go out like that." Childe San Quan looked at the howling black demon dog and shook his head.

Even though it had obtained wisdom, it was still a dog. Although it had the bloodline of Cerberus, it didn't know how to restrain its desire.

This kind of cannon fodder can't be of much use.

"Let go of me! Let go of me!"

“My light of life, my golden princess! She is waiting for me!”

“I will save her from that bad human! Roarrrrrr!”

The whole basement was going to collapse because of the black demon dog’s struggle. After entering the third form, Qumran’s strength was stronger than most hero ranked humans, and its body was far harder than any humans.

Its paws easily scratched open the ground. Looking at this, Childe San Quan couldn’t help that his eyelids were twitching.

It seemed that the notorious black demon dog race wasn’t just the evil race in a fairy book.

Judging from its strength, it could probably kill a thousand green hippos easily, none of the hero ranked humans could be compared with it.

The difference between 1 unit strength and 100 unit strength couldn’t be filled easily. For example, if Person A’s strength was 1 unit, and Person B’s strength was 2 unit, it didn’t mean that 2 Person A was match for 1 Person B. In this case, Person B could easily beat down 10 Person A.

In the war against demons, countless races were eliminated by the Black Demon Dog Race, and from the mountain of flesh and blood, finally, the monster called Cerberus was born.

As the most terrible legend rank creature in the war against demons, Cerberus was called the “God Eater Beast”. Like the three Decide Sky Swords, it really ate so-called immortal gods.

Yes, it didn't eat just a god, but a lot of gods, including the legend ranked gods of the Western God's Domain and even the evil gods of the demon's camp.

Qumran inherited the bloodline of this God Eater Beast, no wonder that the great evil god, Tlahuizcalpantecuhtli thought that it had a high value, and revived it using a taboo magic of sacrifice.

It wasn't easy to find the animals that could be used in the magic of sacrifice in this remote sword domain. Fortunately, because of the White Lotus Secret Treasure, a lot of common animals evolved, and they narrowly met the requirements of the magic of sacrifice.

Now, the magic of sacrifice just successfully accomplished, but this black demon dog was going to look for its death again? So stupid!

Although Childe San Quan thought so, he wouldn't say it out loud.

Anyway, this dog was a fool, but it had high value. He was looking forward to using it as a stud dog to develop an army of black demon dogs.

"Since you are blessed by the great Tlahuizcalpantecuhtli, you are our most honorable guest. Tell me your trouble, Qumran, I can help you!" Childe San Quan smiled and planned to humbug this brainless dog.