

Chapter 260 Please Leave Now

When Melissa arrived at the door to her children's ward, she heard a conversation from inside.

"Mrs. Mayfield, let me help you."

"No, thanks. You are still sick."

"No, I..."

Melissa's face darkened. That was Arielle's voice.

Melissa quickly pushed the door open.

The sound of the door opening drew everyone's attention.

"Melissa, the competition is over already?" As soon as Vivienne saw her, she smiled and pointed to a chair next to her. "Take a seat and rest. I'll peel an apple for you."

"Thank you," Melissa said. Then she looked at Arielle and asked coldly, "What are you doing here?"

Arielle stiffened at Melissa's cold tone, but she forced a smile and answered, "I heard that your children were sick and came to see them."

"You shouldn't have bothered," Melissa said, getting angrier as she looked at the fake smile on the woman in front of her.

After hurting her children, how dare she come to see them? It was either Arielle had evil intentions or she just wanted to provoke her openly.

Melissa suppressed her impulse to curse and instead gave her a sharp look.

"Take care of yourself. I will see you when it's time for your treatment. Don't try to suck up to me."

The smile on Arielle's face froze and her hands clenched into fists behind her.

If it wasn't for Vivienne, she would have never come here in the first place. She didn't even want to see those brats.

But she couldn't show that, so she pouted and looked sad.

"Mrs. Mayfield, I only came to see the children. I had no other intentions. I didn't expect Melissa to treat me this way. Is she still angry that I and Everett used to..."

"No!" Melissa cut her off and rolled her eyes. "You don't have to pretend in front of me, Arielle. I don't want to repeat myself again. I told you to leave right now. Just don't run away when I come looking for you."

"Of course not! Why would I run?"

Arielle tried to sound confident, but she still avoided Melissa's eyes nervously.

She stood up after that and nodded at Vivienne respectfully.

"Since that's what Melissa wants, I'll leave now. I'll visit you when I feel better, Mrs. Mayfield," she said and walked out without waiting for Vivienne to say anything.

Although Arielle hadn't done what she came here for, she at least got something.

From what Melissa said, Arielle understood that Melissa had found the female teacher. However, no one had found that she was the one behind it.

The most important thing right now was to gain Everett's trust, and she had to do that by all means.

She couldn't just use her words to make him trust her again. She had to act too.

Arielle's face darkened. Hiding in the empty rooftop, she took out another phone and made a phone call.

"Are you ready?" she said into the phone. "Don't worry. Just do it and I'll give you the money. You won't be dragged into it."

Back in the ward, Vivienne happily peeled the apple.

She had never liked Arielle. If it weren't for her stupid son who liked Arielle, she would have never let her get into the house.

She was satisfied with Melissa's reaction earlier. Vivienne wondered if it was because Melissa was jealous of Arielle and Everett's previous Thinking that that was what fuelled Melissa's reaction, Vivienne smiled happily and gave her the apple.

"Eat this, Melissa. Tell me, how is the competition going?"

"Not bad." Melissa took the apple and smiled. "It's just that we haven't finished today. The last match will be held two days later."

"Lindsey and Merrick will be on holiday by that time. I can bring them over to cheer you on."

Our ads aim to provide better support for authors.

 I want no ads >