

Chapter 263 Terminate Internship

"Quiet, quiet!" The fat, male director stood up and said, "As soon as you receive your certificates you can get back to work. However, you..." He pointed at Leilany. "Need to pack up your things and leave."

"Me?" Leilany's bottom lip trembled. Why was he pointing at her? She felt deeply confused for a moment, and then her brows knitted into a frown.

She strode toward him and shouted, "Who do you think you are? Do you think you can fire staff so casually?"

"Yes, she's right. Is this because of what happened in Malorcia? We will go to Mr. Cooper and clear this up now," Melissa said.

The doctors looked at each other. One said, "This hospital doesn't belong to you. You must accept the director's decision."

A second doctor added, "Yes. Leilany caused trouble in Malorcia. It's right that she should be punished. There's no need to go to Mr. Cooper and explain that."

"She behaved unprofessionally during her internship. She should be dismissed."

Upset, Melissa gestured for them to stop talking. "Be quiet! This is none of your business. You have the audacity to talk about professionalism while insulting Leilany. Mr. Cooper will make the final decision."

"There is no need to bother Mr. Cooper." The director held up a document. "This letter is from your school. Your grades are not up to standard, and you can't get your graduation certificate. Since you can't graduate, you cannot work at this hospital. Mr. Cooper will agree. So, I say again: pack your things and leave."

What? Leilany took the document and read it quickly. "That's impossible. My grades are fine..."

"Don't panic," Lukas said in a low voice. "Perhaps the school system made an error. Check with the school first."

"I agree with Lukas. You need to find out the truth." Melissa patted Leilany's shoulder. "Your school is in Andeport. Go there and speak to them. You have two days to clear your name before graduation."

"Okay, Melly," Leilany replied. She put away the document and nodded seriously.

The director sounded smug when he said, "Well, let's get back to work. Leilany, you must leave the hospital today, or I will take measures to have you removed from the building."

He walked away.

Melissa glared after him. She was disgusted.

Of course, Leilany could ask the school to check the situation. If it was true that she couldn't graduate, she would leave the hospital then, but not before.

The director was taking advantage of the situation to get his revenge.

The three of them headed to Melissa's office.

Leilany seemed very downhearted. She said, "Melly, I wanted to cheer for you in the final competition. I won't be able to now."

"Graduating is the priority," Melissa said. "If the hospital fires you, I'll have no one to help me, then I'll be really annoyed."

"That's right," Leilany agreed, smiling.

Lukas' eyes lit up as he remembered something. "Leilany, your school is Andeport University, right? I studied there before I went abroad. I have a rest day tomorrow. I'll come with you and visit my teachers."

"Really?" Leilany's eyes sparkled. "That's great. I was wondering who I should speak to at the school. Things will be easier with your help."
