

Chapter 310 Cousin

"What are you trying to say?" The man on the bed narrowed his eyes. He looked furious. Raising his finger made his body tremble. "Why would an ordinary doctor like you threaten me with Everett's name? Aren't you aware of the relationship between us?"

What relationship? Melissa frowned but didn't say anything. She had married into the Mayfield family before yet she had never met this man.

The man laughed, thinking that Melissa believed his lies and was starting to become afraid. He had a smug look all over his chubby face. "I am Everett's cousin. We have the same uncle. And you think you can threaten me? Never!"

"Oh my word." Even if she almost believed the man's bluff, after hearing his story, it was clear he had nothing to do with Everett at all. Melissa spun on her heel with a sneer, and began to walk out.

"I'm not done with you! Who gave you permission to walk away?" The woman quickly got up to stand in Melissa's way. "Are you deaf? My husband said you should kneel and apologize to me!"

"Who should kneel? You?"

"Don't be silly!" The woman gritted her teeth in contempt and seemed like she was about to do something. However, she restrained herself because of the man in the hospital bed. She couldn't afford to be too forward.

Melissa saw through her without difficulty. She smiled. "Your clothes are expensive and it seems your husband is quite rich. So, why do you care so much about that job? Or could it be that you don't care about the job but something else?"

The woman felt guilty. She pretended like she wasn't affected and placed her hands on her hips. "Don't you dare sully my name! I worked hard to get that job, and you made me lose it. The least you can do is apologize to me! If you don't, my husband will be disgraced."

"Precisely!" Hearing this, the man in bed immediately got worked up. He got up from his bed, his hospital gown stretched over his form. His body jiggled as he walked. He stood before the woman, his frame taking up the whole passage.

"Say sorry now! Or else I won't let you leave. I will also claim that you lack medical ethics and destroy your reputation."

Melissa looked at both of them, dumbfounded. She stared frigidly. "I owe you no apology because I did nothing wrong. You got yourself fired. Didn't you focus all your attention on Everett instead of working?"

"How dare you!" the woman yelled.

"Does your husband know that you are obsessed with another man?"

"I am not! You are lying!" The woman then pulled the man's arm. "Honey, she is a whore who tried and failed at seducing Everett. She was jealous of me because I was Everett's secretary, so she made me lose my job!" she said, pointing at Melissa. "Honey, please do something."

She pressed her chest against him seductively as she spoke.

He seemed to enjoy it. He looked up at Melissa again with a newfound determination. "Since you have refused to apologize, I will teach you a lesson you will never forget. The next time you see my wife, you will make a detour!"

Then he kissed his wife.

Melissa wasn't sure if this display was supposed to be frightening. It was just disgusting.

She retreated while monitoring the man's movement. Despite having the upper hand in weight, the man's movements were very careless and sluggish. It was easy to find his weak spots.