

Chapter 316 Birthday

Two days passed quickly.

It was finally the birthday of Lindsey and Merrick. Melissa got off work early to pick them up from the kindergarten.

She kept getting calls from Vivienne, asking if she had already left to pick up the kids.

Melissa answered her questions patiently, slowly becoming nervous.

At first, she didn't think it would be a great deal celebrating their birthday. She thought it was just going to be a good meal and some fun time, but from all indications, it was going to be everything but that.

Just as Vivienne had instructed, she had to send messages and report their progress from time to time until they got to the house.

When she arrived at the kindergarten, it was already time for classes to end.

The way the two kids flew into her arms, it was obvious that they were excited about their birthday.

"Mommy!"

"Mommy! Today is mine and Merrick's birthday. Do we have gifts?" Lindsey said excitedly.

Melissa hugged them and led them to the car.

She looked at each child and said happily, "Of course, you're going to get gifts! You'll see them once we get home."

"Yay!" Lindsey exclaimed and skipped happily.

Even the mature Merrick looked up at his mother with expectation in his eyes.

Soon, the car stopped in front of the door of the Mayfield family's house.

The driver was apparently not going to drive in. He looked at Melissa and said, "Dr. Sherman, Mrs. Mayfield asked that you walk in with Lindsey and Merrick."

Walk in?

Melissa blinked, nodded and then took the kids out of the car.

She hadn't been here for a few days, so she didn't know how the house was decorated.

She stood in front of the door and took a deep breath. She was nervous, but she was also very excited.

She pushed the children in front and opened the door a little.

Standing behind them, she pushed open the door fully.

An explosion of colors filled their vision. Colorful ribbons and colorful balloons.

There was a pink and blue band at the front door that read, "Happy Birthday Lindsey and Merrick!"

A birthday song started playing at the same time.

People dressed like cartoon characters came over and gave the children a lot of things. They put crowns on the children's and Melissa's heads.

"Wow! It's so beautiful! Merrick, look at that!"

The kids were so excited. They grabbed their mother's hands and pulled her in screaming.

The entrance was covered with a beautifully decorated carpet.

There were signs and gifts at every corner. Many other people dressed like cartoon characters came up to wish them happy birthday.

By the time they were in the living room, their hands were already so full of gifts.

"Happy Birthday!" Johnny and Vivienne shouted happily as they rushed out of a room, dressed up in animal headwear.

"Wow! Mr. Mayfield, Mrs. Mayfield!"

"Mr. Mayfield, Mrs. Mayfield!"

The children rushed into their arms. The joy on their faces was irreplaceable.

"My babies!" Vivienne wiped the tears that escaped her eyes and held the children in her arms. "Come on, let's celebrate this day."

The house looked like a real castle.

At the same time, Everett came out pushing a big cake. He looked so happy, his eyes filled with unexpected warmth and tenderness.

He lit the candles one by one, carried the children and placed them on their high seats. Then he whispered, "Lindsey, Merrick, happy birthday. Are you happy today?"

"Yes!" they both screamed as they stared at the big cake in front of them. This was decidedly one of the happiest days of their lives.
