

Chapter 339 Set Off

It was Melissa's fourth day back at the hospital after her rest period ended.

She and the other chosen doctors would set off to visit the Green Group's biological lab.

When Melissa had finished packing up her stuff, she looked up and noticed Leilany who seemed to be in a bad mood.

"Leilany," she said, staring at her colleague. "You have promised me. Do you want to go back on your word now?"

"I didn't..." Leilany said reluctantly. "Melly, do you think I am giving in to my father's will, going back like this?"

Leilany had been thinking about the situation for a while.

Shaking her head, Melissa said, "This only means that you're a doctor, fulfilling your obligation and listening to the hospital's arrangement. You are following the path you have chosen."

"You're right." Leilany's eyes brightened.

She quickly packed up her things and rushed to the door. "Let's go, Melly. Let me show you how I can lead the team."

"Okay," Melissa answered, smiling.

Leilany was naturally outgoing, and Melissa's words had given her the confidence boost she needed.

The hospital had arranged a bus to transport them to the lab.

Most of the doctors were already sitting in the bus and looked around impatiently.

When they saw Leilany and Melissa rushing over, they mocked them.

"Hey, we all arrived together. It's really annoying waiting for people who can't be punctual."

"That's right. One of them is the leader of this team. If she isn't punctual, why is she the leader?"

"Who knows? We're only there for one day, and we're wasting valuable time."

The doctors complained loudly.

Even though they were warned, they continued to mock Leilany and Melissa.

Melissa heard them and didn't want to put up with it.

When dealing with such shameless people, she needed to be tough. They were used to bullying the weak and fearing the strong.

She put her things in place and sat down. "Sir, did the hospital tell you the time to leave?" she said to the driver casually.

"They didn't. We'll leave when everyone arrives. Someone is waiting for us over there."

"I see," she said, raising her voice. She glared at the other doctors and snorted. "Of course. After all, we are visiting a company that belongs to Leilany's father. Mr. Green prefers honest people to those who behave jealously."

Her words made the doctors' faces tense up.

Leilany gave Melissa a secret thumbs up.

Leilany had revealed her powerful connections. If the doctors still complained, it meant they didn't take her seriously at all.

When they arrived, she would let these people see how capable she was.

While she was there, she could use her father's power as a bluff.

Lukas arrived last. He apologized, "I'm sorry, everyone. I had to check on a patient."

This time, the doctors stayed silent.

Leilany smiled brightly. "It doesn't matter. We can stay in the lab as long as we want, anyway."

Leilany resented the other doctors, but she admired Lukas.

Shaking her head helplessly, Melissa saw a pair of long and straight legs standing in front of her.

"Can I sit with you, Melly?" Lukas asked.
