

Chapter 454 Throw Those Things Out

Everett's assistant's words silenced everyone.

He not only explained what had happened the previous night but also showed that the Mayfield Group highly valued Melissa. Furthermore, he even mocked those who were gossiping at the moment.

Killing three birds with one stone. He had really helped Melissa.

The onlookers present were embarrassed and left with their heads lowered.

Keira stood still, shivering with anger.

It was her first day working at the hospital, and she wanted to establish her reputation. But someone had humiliated her in public.

If she left like this, would others in the hospital bully her in the future?

Thinking of this, Keira pointed at the security guards and shouted, "Why are you still standing there? Throw all these things out! I want this office today!"

"Miss Cooper..."

The security guards were not stupid, so they understood what Everett's assistant meant. Besides, Everett's assistant was still there. Would they offend the Mayfield Group if they took action?

They hesitated, knowing the implications of their actions, and did not dare to proceed.

"What do you want to do? Why don't you listen to me?" Keira became more aggressive, and said, "Okay. If you don't help me, I'll throw the things myself! I remember every one of you. I'll ask my father to fire you all tomorrow!"

Keira grabbed a pile of books as she spoke.

But the assistant stepped in front of her and asked, "Are you sure you want to do this?"

"It's none of your business!" Keira snapped back. "You're just a lackey in front of Everett. You can show off in front of others. I don't care!"

Several men appeared in front of Keira as soon as she finished her words.

They were those bodyguards who dragged her out of Everett's ward earlier.

Keira frowned, and before she could respond, they covered her mouth and threw her out of the office.

It was working hours, and there were a lot of people outside.

Many people saw this, but they didn't dare to say anything and only snickered to themselves.

Keira stood up awkwardly, her face flushed.

She had never felt so humiliated!

She clenched her teeth in rage. She wanted to say something, but the bodyguards locked their gazes on her, so she gave up her idea.

She glared at the bodyguards but left without saying anything.

Leilany watched from a corner, laughing at Keira's situation.

"Melly, did you see that? Keira looked ridiculous when she was angry and anxious but could do nothing."

"She deserved it." Melissa started to clean up the scattered items. Turning to the assistant, she asked, "Why are you still here? Did Everett send you?"

"Yes, Mr. Mayfield asked you to have breakfast with him."

"Did he buy it already?"

Melissa stood up, surprised.

She had only been out of the room for about ten minutes, and she wondered how Everett could have arranged breakfast so quickly.

Melissa realized right away when she saw the bodyguards. Everett could not buy it in person, but he could make a call and ask others to do this.

Leilany listened beside them and asked Melissa, "Have you had breakfast yet?"

"Not yet."

Melissa shook her head, feeling a bit embarrassed.

She hadn't even had time to wash up since she had been busy all night.

"Then you should go have breakfast now. I'll clean up here," Leilany offered. Then, she leaned in closer and whispered, "Just make sure you tell me what happened between you and Everett last night when you come back."