

Chapter 484 The Carter Family Is Hiring Doctors

Peter tightly clenched his fists, simultaneously harboring a desire to seek revenge against Melly and Leilany.

"Sweetheart, I..."

"That will suffice."

Keira walked away as she wiped the tears from her face.

Frozen still for some time, Peter was haunted by his daughter's disappointed gaze. He vowed to never forget it, and placed the blame squarely on Leilany and Melly.

Peter retrieved his phone and made a call. "Make it look like a car accident. I want to get rid of Leilany and Melly!"

Keira stood at the corner of the corridor, and upon hearing her father's conversation, she smiled.

She purposely provoked her father, Peter, to cause trouble for Leilany and Melissa.

Keira laughed fiercely while covering her swollen face. She had been slapped by Melissa earlier, but she was determined to get revenge.

In the office, Leilany said worriedly, "Melissa, you just hit Keira! Do you think she'll seek revenge? Peter seemed upset when he left here."

"Would she treat us any better even if we left her alone? How could I be rational when you were just injured?"

Melissa applied the bandage to Leilany's wrist.

Leilany felt moved when she saw what Melissa had done. "Thank you for looking out for me."

Melissa paused and smiled. "She can try to cause trouble with me, but I won't let her hurt the people around me."

Leilany felt touched by Melissa's words. If Melissa were a man, she would have made an amazing boyfriend.

After Melissa finished applying the bandage for Leilany, her phone rang. She frowned as she glanced at her phone, and then walked out to answer the call.

"Aloys, have you taken care of everything as planned?"

Aloys' tone was serious. "The reason I called you is to discuss this matter. I've made contact with the Carter family's people. Apparently, the oldest lady of the family is hiring a doctor who can treat her sickness. However, I heard the old woman has a difficult personality and often lashes out at people."

Melissa furrowed her brow. "It's nothing. As long as I can stay close to the old woman, everything should be fine."

Aloys remained worried. "But what if she discovers your true identity? Remember that your mother doesn't have a good relationship with the Carter family."

Aloys was concerned the Carter family might harm Melissa. His voice shook with worry.

"It's alright. I can take care of myself. Can you assist me in getting in touch with the Carter family?"

"Alright. I will help you with this."

Realizing Melissa had her own plan, Aloys stopped pressing the matter and stopped protesting.

"I'll provide you with the job posting later."

As she returned home, Melissa found the job posting sent by Aloys in her mailbox.

Melissa quietly jotted down the main information and placed the paper in her bag.

"What was that?"

Everett was at the door and witnessed Melissa's actions.

"It's nothing. Just a brochure."

Everett walked over with a frown and spoke seriously. "I heard from my mother you're going on a trip far away. Why didn't you tell me about it?"

Melissa kept this matter a secret from others to avoid any resistance. She hadn't told anyone except Aloys.

"I just wanted to take a trip."

Everett glared at Melissa in anger. "You didn't want the children to know you were poisoned, so you kept it from them. Why won't you tell me what has happened now? Who do you think I am?"
