Gazing upon the beast crystal from its own offspring and the lifeless form of Santino, the big wolf unleashed a mournful howl, a primal lament echoing through the wilderness.

Undeterred, it displayed no inkling of withdrawal. With a resolute raise of its head, the big wolf emitted a fierce, commanding howl, as though orchestrating the entire pack to launch an assault!

In response, a chorus of Ghost Wolves joined in the howling.

Their piercing howls reverberated throughout the expanse of the Myriad Beasts Valley, filling the air with an eerie symphony of defiance.

Witnessing the scene, Liam's countenance hardened, his features set in a steely resolve.

He hadn't expected to appease the big wolf with Santino's lifeless form.

Aware that a fierce confrontation loomed ahead, Liam turned to Laura, his voice steady yet laden with concern, requesting her to cling to him once more, wary of the possibility that her frailty might make her a target in the impending clash.

Aware that a fierce confrontation loomed ahead, Liam turned to Laura, his voice steady yet laden with concern, requesting her to cling to him once more, wary of the possibility that her frailty might make her a target in the impending clash.

Liam's gaze swept over the formidable array of wolves before him, noting the considerable numbers amassed, yet discerning with a critical eye that among them, only a handful boasted the formidable stature of sixth-tier primogen beasts.

perceptible yet illuminating her features with a radiant warmth. In a moment of unspoken delight, she enveloped Liam from behind, her arms encircling his waist with a sense of pure contentment.

Feeling Laura's tight embrace, Liam's readiness to strike surged, his senses heightened, prepared to spring into action at any time.

Simultaneously, with a ferocious charge, the Ghost Wolves under the command of the big wolf surged forward, initiating their assault with relentless aggression.

The wolves surged forth with astonishing agility, their movements fluid and swift as they closed in with remarkable speed. In an overwhelming onslaught, a multitude of Ghost Wolves descended upon Liam in a relentless barrage.

The menacing spectacle stirred a flicker of apprehension within Liam, a subtle acknowledgment of the formidable challenge he faced.

He swiftly struck, delivering a powerful blow to the nearest Ghost Wolf before unleashing a flurry of kicks, sending several more of the spectral beasts tumbling away in a whirlwind of motion.

In truth, the wolves posed little real threat to Liam, their attacks proving to be more of a nuisance than a genuine danger.

Nonetheless, Liam harbored deep concern over the swiftness of the Ghost Wolves, recognizing the formidable challenge posed by their lightning-fast movements.

Indeed, even a fifth-tier Ghost Wolf matched Liam's

Thankfully, Liam had already devised a solution to confront this challenge.

Surrounded by the encroaching pack of wolves, a sudden eruption of dark yellow light burst forth from Liam, illuminating the shadowy chaos with an aura of unexpected power!

The radiant glow emanating from Liam was none other than the manifestation of his mastery over the special power of the earth element.

The instant Liam's power surged forth, it gave rise to an immensely potent gravitational magnetic field, exerting an irresistible force upon the surrounding environment.

With the emergence of the gravitational magnetic field, the Ghost Wolves found their agility severely compromised, their once lightning-fast movements slowing to a crawl as the force exerted its powerful influence upon them.

Consequently, the once-blurred forms of the wolves became starkly clear to Liam's eyes, their movements slowed enough for him to discern their every motion with precision.

Under the oppressive grip of the gravitational magnetic field, the weaker Ghost Wolves found themselves incapacitated, their ability to move stripped away.

Glancing back to ensure Laura's firm embrace, Liam drew in a deep breath, summoning every ounce of his resolve before unleashing a fierce and relentless assault upon the Ghost Wolves.

At this moment, Liam had transformed into a relentless, unstoppable force of destruction. With every stride and every strike, he left behind a trail of vanquished Ghost Wolves, ensuring that none could survive the ferocity of his onslaught.

Liam's courage swelled, fueling a relentless determination that propelled him to new heights of valor. Every ounce of his strength was fully unleashed. Amidst the chaos of battle, Liam found himself honing his mastery over various special powers with unparalleled proficiency. Each strike served as a crucible for his skills.

Despite Liam's formidable strength, the task of ending all the Ghost Wolves was far from simple. Indeed, with nearly a thousand Ghost Wolves to contend with, Liam faced an overwhelming challenge that tested even his unparalleled prowess.

Without the continuous energy from the fragment of the Heart of Life within him, Liam would have already collapsed.

The extraordinary power of the fragment intensified Liam's fervent longing for the Demon Forest.

His eagerness to venture into the Demon Forest grew, fueled by the hope of completing the fragments of the
