

Chapter 1130 Apologize

In another part of the battlefield, the Prescott family's team noticed the Delgado brothers were in a perilous situation. They all understood the principle of unity: one for all and all for one. Solidarity was their strength, especially in challenging times.

The situation was critical; the loss of the Delgado brothers to the shadow beasts would significantly diminish the strength of the Prescott family's team, especially since Dobbs and Slater were two fifth-tier Primogem Warriors.

Without hesitation, the team intensified their efforts to vanquish the formidable sixth-level shadow beasts to swiftly aid the Delgado brothers.

Idris, who had been observant from the start, realized that the Delgado brothers had tactically lured the shadow beasts toward Liam to indirectly eliminate Liam.

Idris understood that Liam was merely retaliating, ensuring the Delgado brothers experienced the consequences of their own actions.

Yet, Idris was not one to turn against his comrades. His loyalty to his team was unwavering, and he always protected his own. Thus, he placed the blame on Liam. He would let Liam face severe repercussions if anything befell the Delgado brothers.

With a steely resolve, Idris unleashed his formidable power, swiftly defeating a sixth-level shadow beast. Only one more shadow beast remained before him.

Confident in his agility, Idris estimated it would take mere seconds to kill this last adversary before he could rush to Dobbs' aid.

However, he hadn't accounted for the exceptional strength of the shadow beast assaulting Dobbs.

Dobbs had sustained severe injuries, impairing his ability to defend against the beast's relentless onslaught.

Each blow weakened him further, pushing him dangerously close to the edge of death.

Meanwhile, Slater, witnessing his brother's suffering, was overcome with horror and helplessness.

His fear paralyzed him, rendering him incapable of intervening. He frantically scanned the battlefield for assistance.

Slater's eyes locked with Liam's as he desperately called out, "Liam! We were wrong, I'm sorry! Can you please help save my brother? I apologize on his behalf. We won't pull any stunts again, I promise!"

Initially, Liam had decided to disregard Dobbs' distress, but the sincerity of Slater's apology moved him.

With a deep grunt, Liam's resolve softened. He recalled how Susannah had once saved his own life, compelling him to repay the debt he owed to the Prescott family.

Moved by Slater's earnest plea, Liam intervened just as the shadow beast prepared to strike another blow at Dobbs.

A pale yellow aura flared around him, signaling the unleashing of his special power of the earth element.

His ability quickly created a magnetic gravitational field that slowed the beast's movements, giving Dobbs a momentary reprieve.

However, Liam hadn't anticipated the proximity of the beast to Dobbs. Although the gravitational field slowed it, the beast managed to grasp Dobbs' leg.

Before anyone could react, the beast tore off Dobbs' right leg and devoured it, leaving behind a horrifying sight marked by blood and chaos.
