

Chapter 1136 Finding The Shadow Palace

The chase ended quite quickly, lasting just under twenty minutes—unfolding precisely as Liam had foreseen. The shadow beast, weary and slowing, allowed Liam to steadily narrow the gap between them.

The shadow beast also noticed its risky situation. Its mournful cries echoed, perhaps pleading for mercy or calling for aid to its kin.

Yet, Liam's focus wasn't on the shadow beast at that moment. Instead, his gaze fixated on a distant sight—a dark green palace.

Realization dawned on him, and he murmured to himself, eyebrows furrowing with intrigue. "Could this be the Shadow Palace Susannah spoke of? Have I actually found it?"

A smile graced Liam's lips. The palace hadn't been as hard to find as he had expected.

Susannah's description of the Shadow Palace had intrigued him quite a bit, and he was excited to actually find it.

Liam's demeanor softened as he glanced back at the shadow beast. Squatting down, he said, "Seems you're quite useful, leading me here. Leave now. I won't kill you this time. But remember, if you dare to attack me again, you'll not be as lucky as this time!"

Grateful for Liam's decision, the shadow beast hurried away with a sound that hinted at his gratitude.

Liam wasted no time, hastening towards the Shadow Palace.

Yet, upon arrival, his expression soured.

There were clear signs that someone else had beaten him in the race to get to the Shadow Palace.

Liam believed the Prescott family's team had found the Shadow Palace before him. Knowing the Prescott family's team, they were probably the only other people in Shadow Valley.

Thinking of that, Liam approached the entrance with a sense of urgency, only to find the ancient doors stubbornly sealed shut.

Suddenly, a nebulous, sinister shadow coalesced before him, accompanied by a chilling command that pierced the silence.

"Leave, weakling, and your life will be spared!"

In an instant, the ancient doors swung open, unleashing a tempestuous gust that threatened to sweep Liam off his feet.

Though potent, the wind was tailored only to thwart Primogem Warriors below the sixth rank.

With a determined grunt, Liam unleashed his special power of the earth element, erecting a formidable barrier to withstand the wind.

Liam stood resolute at the entrance, showing no sign of being swayed by the wind.

After blowing fiercely for ten minutes, the wind finally died down.

The enigmatic shadow reappeared, its mechanical voice breaking the silence once more.

"Initial test passed. Proceed inside now."
