

Chapter 1187 Cillian's Fury

The head of the Martel family was relatively straightforward compared to Adamson and Cillian, lacking their shrewdness.

After listening to Liam's words, the head of the Martel family shook his head, a sorrowful expression crossing his face. He was about to allow Liam and his companions to depart.

Just as Liam believed he had deceived them and could make his escape, Cillian furrowed his brow with an icy-cold gaze. He released his formidable aura, swiftly making Liam and his companions freeze.

Following that, Cillian shouted in a cold tone, "How dare you! Do you think you can pull off such a stunt right under my nose? Reveal yourself, the daughter of the Alvarado family!"

While Cillian projected his formidable aura, Adamson's gaze deepened, maintaining silence as he subtly exerted pressure on Liam and his companions.

Liam felt a chill in his heart. Despite knowing that Shayla's cover was blown, he couldn't afford to give up now. Every moment he could delay was crucial.

Stalling until Carlden's arrival would render the situation more controllable and favorable.

So Liam feigned perplexity, sporting a puzzled expression, as he said, "Sir, what are you saying? I don't know who the daughter from the Alvarado family is. She is my elder sister, Zoya."

Seeing Liam's denial, Cillian's visage grew grim, and he promptly stripped Shayla's disguise, exposing Shayla's real face.

Infused with lethal determination, Cillian declared, "Garrett initially brought Shayla into the hidden realm. Why is she in your company at present? Do you persist in denying knowledge of my son's location? Tell me the truth, or I'll kill you today!"

Observing Cillian's blatant hostility, Liam's heart sank, prompting swift mental calculations on how to confront the impending danger.

At that moment, Shayla boldly declared, "Garrett met his end by my hand. These two individuals merely crossed paths with me upon departure and are innocent of Garrett's demise. Coward, confront me if you dare. Your son's fate is sealed. I have vented my anger!"

Following this, Shayla erupted into wild laughter. It seemed as though she had descended into madness.

Cillian's fury surged in response to Shayla's defiance.

Despite Garrett's lackluster traits and indulgence, he was Cillian's only son, making his death in the maritime secret realm an unbearable reality for Cillian.

The next moment, Cillian struck without hesitation.

His eighth-tier Primogem Warrior aura surged forth with crushing force, possessing immense power akin to a mountain plummeting from the sky, seemingly aimed at obliterating Liam and the others in one strike.

The freezing cold that ensued appeared to be capable of penetrating Shayla's body.

Shayla had little to no hope of surviving Cillian's furious assault.

Liam, observing the situation, naturally grasped the gravity of it. His expression turned serious.

He realized he had to step in and take the hit meant for Shayla to increase her chances of survival.

Considering Shayla's status as a fifth-tier Primogem Warrior, she wouldn't stand a chance against Cillian's attack.

Liam, on the other hand, had a significantly higher chance of withstanding Cillian's attack.

Considering this, Liam advanced, activating his special power of the earth element and the ordinary-grade battle armor. He also fully utilized his dark aura domain and the fragment of the Heart of Life without holding back.

He was forcefully thrown backward with a resounding crash.

Though blood trickled from the corner of his mouth, Liam's condition remained relatively stable.

Surprisingly, Liam had successfully managed to withstand Cillian's attack.
